KINGSTON MILK SUPPLY GETS FLATTERING NOTICE FROM STATE

Milk Distributed Here Is of Unusually Fine Quality and Board of Health is to be Commended, Says Commissioner Pyrke.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 1.—Commissioner Berne A. Pyrke of the Department of Farms and Markets has received a report of a survey made by inspectors of the department of the milk supply of the city of Kingston. The report submitted by M. S. Rivenburg, assistant director of the New York office, states that the milk distributed in the city was found to be of unusually fine quality, and that during the investigation it was not deemed necessary at any time to take samples for analyses by chemists.

Commissioner Pyrke is of the opinion that when a survey shows milk, which is high in butter-fat content and of low bacteria count, it is fitting that the department not only place this on its own records but give out the information for the benefit of the consuming public.

The report submitted to the commissioner states that the board of health in Kingston is very active in taking samples of milk which are carefully tested and records made which are open to the public so that the consumer may know the character and quality of the milk which dealers in the city are distributing. The survey shows that there are twenty-six dealers distributing milk in Kingston and that the supply is from 800 cows, with an estimated daily consumption of about 8,000 quarts. The commissioner stated that the Kingston Board of Health is to be commended for its activity in insuring such a pure and wholesome milk supply for the city of Kingston.

COMPLETING NEAR EAST RELIEF FUND

The committee for Ulster county on Near East Relief met at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. building, Rear Admiral Higginson presiding, and listened to inspiring and illuminating words from Dr. Currie of New York, in charge of Near East Relief work in this section of the state. Dr. Currie related how the Christian people of the Near East formerly under Turkish jurisdiction have all been removed to three zones in Asia, Asia Minor and Europe, outside of Turkish domination. Thousands of orphans are housed and taught in safety. Much remains to be done for these children and their parents in their new homes. Dr. Currie outlined plans for the completion of Ulster county's quota, nothing but clothing and canned goods having been sent from this county since the Smyrna relief last year. Admiral Higginson assured Dr. Currie that Kingston and the county would respond at once to the cry of these worthy Christian people and appointed the following committee to complete the quota, $536, of same having been given by the churches already, with a number yet to hear from:

Morris Block, Mrs. T. J. Hickey, Mrs. William A. Longyear, Mrs. F. W. Thompson, Mrs. Frank Powley, Mrs. M. S. Safford, Mrs. Gerard Betz, Newton H. Fessenden, William C. DeWitt, Mr. Shimmons, Industrial Plants' chairman, B. Charchian.

One week is allotted for the completing of the quota in order to close this small campaign before the commencement of the Red Cross Roll Call and Boy Scout canvass beginning week after next.

Headquarters have been opened at the Y. M. C. A. where committee may secure pledge envelopes and supplies and where any contributions will be received before noon of Wednesday, November 7.

DRIVER FLEES AFTER FATALLY HURTING TWO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A man hunt was under way today for the driver of a touring car, who fled after striking down a mother and her daughter as they attempted to cross the street after alighting from a street car.

Mrs. Anna Joyce, 38, and Dorothy, 8, were dying in a hospital. The mother has a fractured skull and the little girl a fractured skull and fractures of both legs.

The car, abandoned by the driver, is held at police headquarters. It bears Illinois license number 3684, issued to Thomas Wilce, vice-president Wilce Dry-Kiln and Mill Company, and also of the T. Wilce Company. Wilce had not returned home early today.

Auto Struck Bicycle.

James H. Clearwater about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening reported to the police that his bicycle had been struck and wrecked by an auto driven by Casper Ketterer. The collision occurred at about 240 Foxhall avenue. Mr. Clearwater stated that his leg was injured as a result of the collision.

Two Ambulance Calls.

Wednesday Fred LaTour was removed from his home, No. 55 West Pierpont street, to the Benedictine Hospital in the ambulance. This morning the ambulance removed Thomas Lewis from 7 East Pierpont street to the Benedictine Hospital.

FOURTEEN BABIES AT CONFERENCE

Mothers Bring Their Offspring to First Junior League Conference for Well Babies Wednesday.

Fourteen babies were brought to the first conference for well babies to be held by Miss Doris Hasbrouck, the Junior League nurse, on Wednesday afternoon, and each of the babies was weighed and measured in accordance with the methods adopted for baby study by the leading doctors of America.

Twelve of the fourteen babies brought to the conference by their mothers had not been weighed or measured before such weights and measurements were taken at The Junior League nurse conference; two of the babies previously had received attention from The Junior League nurse when they had been ill.

The conference was held in the rooms of the board of health at the city hall instead of at the court house, and the babies and their mothers who went to the court house were conveyed to the city hall by automobile. Future conferences will be held at the board of health rooms at the city hall, as formerly, where baby scales, etc., are convenient, and where the babies' records are kept.

Conferences for well babies will be held at stated intervals, and the interest taken by the mothers of the city in the conferences and care for their babies indicates that the work of The Junior League meets with their hearty approval.

BEACH STREET HOUSE BURNED

While Hallowe'en festivities were at their height in Ponckhockie Wednesday evening fire was discovered in the two story frame house owned by the Hutton Company and occupiedby Giuseppe Naccarato on Beach street, near the bathing beach at Kingston Point.

An alarm was turned in from Box 15 at 7:43 o'clock to which fire department responded. It is thought that the fire originated in the chimney on the second floor. None of the family were at home at the time the fire was discovered. The house was practically burned to the ground.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ZION CHURCH FRIDAY NIGHT

On Friday evening, November 2, at 8:15 o'clock a special entertainment will be given by the little tots of the Franklin Street A. M. E. Zion Church under the management of Miss Anna Van Derzee. The Rev. Henry H. Fox, an original Baptist minister, will occupy the pulpit at both the morning and evening services on Sunday. The services are being crowded each Sunday.

TREATY DOESN'T BAR WILHELM FROM GERMANY

By Telegraph to The Freeman

London, Nov. 1.—Foreign office experts stated today after examination of the Versailles Treaty that there is nothing in that covenant to prevent the former crown prince from returning to Germany if Berlin gives him permission to do so.

Metaxis Escapes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Athens, Nov. 1.—M. Metaxis, chief of the Greek royalist party and a leader in the ill-starred counter revolution, has escaped from Greece on board a Nowegian ship bound for Messina, according to information received here today. He was accompanied by his wife. Loyal troops have been pursuing Metaxis. His arrest is considered imminent.

3 Die in Wreck.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—Three men, the crew of the Horlich-Port Richmond to Harrisburg milk train on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad were killed early today when the train crashed into a coal tipple here. The dead: Robert Williams, engineer; Harry Deischel, fireman, and an unidentified brakeman, all from Reading.

Highland Girl's Ribs Broken.

Two fractured right ribs and body abrasions were suffered by Viola Kelly, 13, of Highland when she was knocked down near her home late Wednesday afternoon by an automobile driven by John Marshall of Lake Mohonk. She was taken to Vassar Brothers' Hospital, where she was resting comfortably early this morning.

Miss Lowe Sustained Fall.

Miss Alice Lowe of No. 44 Tompkins street fell on Fair street and was slightly injured on Wednesday afternoon.

MONROE GETS TWENTY YEARS

When He Pleaded Guilty To Second Degree Murder As Jury Is Completed—Barrett's Case Up Next Week.

The jury which was approved after two days of selection in the case of "Bad Bill" Monroe in Poughkeepsie, did not try the defendant as counsel for Monroe offered a plea of guilty to murder in the second degree, which was accepted by the prosecution. Justice Seeger immediately pronounced sentence, which was a prison term of twenty years. Under heavy guard Monroe was taken to Ossining.

The fate of Harold Barrett, Monroe's youthful alleged accomplice will be known next week. His attorney will ask for a dismissal of the indictment on the ground of no evidence.

"Bad Bill" Monroe was a resident of Ulster county, where he was known in the southern part as a desperado and a bad man. He served prison terms several times for assault and burglary. On the stand Monroe gave his age as 44.

FOUR MEN HELD FOR COUNTERFEITING

Had Distributed $50,000 In Spurious $20 Bills—Bobbed Hair Blonde Runs True To Form Of "Woman Scorned."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago,, Nov. 1.—Four men, who federal secret service operators say have flooded a dozen different cities between New York and Denver with spurious $20 bills, were held today while engravers of fully $100,000 worth of the alleged worthless currency were sought in what secret service operators believe is a counterfeiting plot of nation-wide proportions.

A bobbed hair blonde cabaret dancer from Kansas City, whose affections were won and then spurned by one of the gang, brought about arrest of the four men. Those held are Lewis Kettler, Ralph C. Oldham, Bob White or Witte and Edward C. Bronson.

Bronson confessed, secret service men say, that he and his three companions after distributing $50,000 worth of the bad bills, had started on a motor trip west with a suit case containing $50,000 more. The trip led through Kansas City. It was there the cabaret girl won Bronson's confidence and gave him her affection. When they quarreled and he said he was "through," she sought officers.

The first $50,000 worth of the bills, according to federal operatives, was put in circulation in Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Milwaukee, Rock Island and Moline, Illinois, Omaha, Denver, Boulder, Colorado and Kansas City.

The secret service men said the bills, which are good enough imitation to be classed as "dangerous" appeared in numbers in New York at the time of the Dempsey-Firpo fight. They were engraved copies of federal reserve notes, bearing serial numbers A-207, A-198, B-198.

ALMOST WINTER CONDITIONS IN THE MOUNTAINS

There were snow squalls in Pine Hill, Big Indian and Phoenicia and other parts of the Catskill mountains Wednesday night and next morning. A few flakes fell in this city Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. The thermometer in Pine Hill was 28 above Thursday morning about 6 o'clock, and 36 degrees above zero in this city.

OCTOBER REALTY DEALS WERE MANY IN NUMBER

During the month of October there were 426 deeds and other conveyances of real estate in the county filed for record in the Ulster county clerk's office, against 404 filed during October 1922. There were 340 mortgages filed for record during this year being 29 less than in October 1922 when 369 mortgages were recorded.

At the Theaters.

At the Auditorium theatre, "The Son of Wallingford," a million dollar production with a cast of principals who have either been starred or featured in other photoplays. A menagerie of elephants, camels and the like required for the big parade.

The program changes today at The Orpheum Theatre. The comedian, Phil Ott, in new musical comedies is the offering. The company numbers 20 people, which includes a dancing "kiddie" chorus. The plays to be offered are said to be full of music, melody and wit. The feature picture is "Cordelia the Magnificent," with Clara Kimball Young in her latest.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Twin daughters, Muriel Blanche and Madeline Lucile to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Foster Smith of 6 St. James street.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. W. Schuberg, 196 First avenue, a daughter Arleen May.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Smith, 27 West O'Reilly street, a daughter Florence May.

THE REV. DR. CHASE DIED THIS MORNING

The Rev. Dr. Platt N. Chase, one of the oldest and best known clergymen in the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at 10 o'clock this morning at his residence, 15 Green street, after being ill since Friday with pneumonia. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. James M. E. Church.

KELLOGG WILL SUCCEED HARVEY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Former Senator Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, will succeed Colonel George Harvey as the United States ambassador to Great Britain, it was announced officially at the state department today.

Announcement of Kellogg's appointment followed receipt from Great Britain of assurances that the former senator would be acceptable to the British government.

Kellogg is not expected to go to London before January 1, when Colonel Harvey's resignation becomes effective. His appointment cannot be confirmed for a month yet as the senate does not meet until December 3.

Despite the threats of some western senators dissatisfied with the appointment of the former senator, it is deemed unlikely that there will be much, if any opposition to his confirmation.

GOVERNOR'S SON IN AUTO ACCIDENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 1.—Alfred E. Smith, Jr., eldest son of Governor Alfred E. Smith, Major David Lawyer, the governor's military secretary and his brother, George Lawyer, Jr., of Albany today were recovering from bruises and cuts suffered last night when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a trolley car.

The accident occurred in Schenectady. Presence of mind of young Smith in quickly swerving the machine to one side, prevented what might have been a serious accident.

Major Lawyer and his brother are sons of Surrogate George Lawyer of Albany.

George Lawyer was cut about the head and face by glass. His injuries were dressed at Ellis Hospital, Schenectady.

The governor's son and the Lawyer boys where riding in one of the state automobiles assigned to the executive mansion.

GEARY'S NECK BURNED AT FIRE

Fireman William Geary of the Cornell Hose, who was one of the members of the fire department to responded to the fire call on Beach street Wednesday evening was burned on the back of his neck, but is still on the job.

When Fireman Geary reached the burning house he was informed that there was some one in the bedroom on the second floor and he rushed into the burning structure and up the stairs. As he entered the bedroom the plaster on the ceiling fell together with some blazing material striking him on the back of his neck.

After making a thorough search of the burning house Fireman Geary found that it was vacant. The family at the time the fire broke out was not at home. An account of the fire will be found elsewhere.

REPORT BERLIN ASSENTING TO WILHELM'S RETURN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Milan, Italy, Nov. 1.—The Berlin government has given permission to the former crown-prince to return to his estates in Sliesia, on condition the trip is kept secret to avoid political demonstrations, according to a confidential report received here today.

Wilhelm, in his request to Berlin, said he merely wished to return to Germany to rejoin his family and live as a private citizen.

SOVIET METHOD OF DEALING WITH GRAFTERS

POINCARE WANTS RESTRICTION PLAIN

Asks That Allied Invitation To U. S. State Clearly That Only Germany's Ability To Pay Share Be Discussed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Nov. 1.—Premier Poincare has requested that the Allied invitation to the United States to join the international committee of reparations experts shall specifically declare that the committee be limited to discussion of Germany's capacity for payment for the purpose of a clear understanding with Washington before the meetings begin, it was learned from allied diplomatic circles today.

The French premiers want it clearly understood with Washington that the experts shall not agree to a reduction of the total sum of indemnity Germany must pay.

M. Poincare has expressed willingness for the committee to sit in Berlin.

It is understood that the allied powers have agreed to a joint invitation to Washington for American participation in the discussions. Washington should receive this invitation before Sunday.

Under the French plan the committee will study Germany's whole economic situation including the amount of taxes received by the government, railway revenues, production of mines and industries and the income from monopolies.

After it is ascertained how much money Germany can raise annually for indemnity a report will be made to the Inter-allied reparations commission along with a note containing recommendations.

FOR WOMEN ONLY; MEN PLEASE SKIP

This article is not for men. We would be better satisfied if they didn't read it at all. But it should be of great interest to every woman in Kingston, for it tells her how she may become a part of a great city institution and help in its work.

Now if any man has been curious enough to read as far as this, and I'm perfectly sure a lot of you have, the least you can do is to say "You win ladies," and pin a dollar bill to this spot in the Freeman and tell his wife to go on and join.

That's what we want every woman to do—join. It's the Hospital Auxiliary. We want more members. Lots more.

We want the women of Kingston to feel that they are a part of the hospital, individually. We are starting a membership campaign for 1924.

Fifteen members of the Auxiliary have pledgfed themselves to bring in ten new members apiece. They are the volunteer captains of the campaign. Here are their names. Mrs. Charles Tappen, Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Mrs. T. J. Hickey, Mrs. Chandler, Mrs. James E. Low, Mrs. Richard Tappen, Mrs. J. D. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Harry Jacobs, Mrs. William McCullough, Mrs. John D. Rodie, Mrs. Kate Chambers, Mrs. C. A. Hendricks, Mrs. Viola Bishop, Mrs. C. E. Hasbrouck.

Now we want some volunteer lieutenants. If you are already a member of the Auxiliary, and want to do something for your hospital, call up anyone of these fifteen captains and say "I will bring in five new members this month."

It is so simple to get a new member. You merely ask some woman you know whether she doesn't feel like giving one dollar a year to further the work of the hospital, and then you send her name and the dollar (don't forget the dollar) to one of the captains. A dollar paid now means a membership for 1924.

The Auxiliary will not give a ball this winter, will not have an entertainment to raise money, will not make any public appeal for funds. All we want is members, and we want every woman who is interested in the hospital to say so and come in. It's November first and this campaign is today officially opened. Let's go!

MARTHA S. CHANDLER,
Secretary.

COAL TRAIN HIT CLOSED CAR ON FERRY ST. WEDNESDAY

The closed car of O. A. Maynard of Grand Gorge was badly damaged Wednesday morning when it was struck by a coal train on Ferry street at the entrance to the Rhinebeck ferry shed. Mr. Maynard and his wife had driven down to Ferry street to cross the river on the ferry. At the time the coal train was on the siding and Mr. Maynard stopped his car. He started it just as the coal train began to back toward him and his car was caught on the track. Fortunately no one was hurt.

U. S. OBJECTS TO CUT UP GERMANY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The United States will not recognize the Rhineland republic, or any other mushroom Separatist government set up in Germany territory, it was learned authoritatively here today.

In this respect American policy is generally similar to that of the British government. The British have already served formal notice upon the French that London will not recognize different segments of a dismembered Germany.

This government would look with extreme disfavor upon the dismemberment of Germany, whether such action came as a result of Germany's internecine strife or whether it came as a result of the incessant efforts the French have made in the occupied territory ever since the armistice.

State and war department records are filled with reports of the French campaign for a Rhineland republic. General Pershing, General Hunter Liggett and Major-General Henry T. Allen, as commanders-in-chief at various times of the American occupational forces, were forced to take issue with the French for their activities in the American zone.

WOODSTOCK BUS HEARINGS CLOSED

The fifth and final hearing in the matter of the petitions of Stanley Longyear and of Earle Schoonmaker each for a franchise to operate auto bus lines between Bearsville, Woodstock and Kingston on the ground that public necessity demands it, was held at the supervisors' room in the court house, this city, Wednesday afternoon. It was before Harry Myron Chamberlain, assistant counsel to the State Public Service Commission. The Longyear matter had been finished at a previous hearing, after which the Schoonmaker petition had been taken up with Earle Schoonmaker on the stand. Wednesday afternoon Lester Sagendorf, supervisor of the town of Woodstock, was called and questioned as to what he knew as to conditions and whether they had been cared for. In his opinion two bus lines would give better service for the residents of the town which was fast growing in population and its large summer colony. Stanley Longyear was recalled and questioned as to the number of passengers carried and receipts and as to his expenses. He submitted a statement of receipts, etc., from June 17 to date. Wallace Shultis, justice of the peace and a member of the town board, was questioned as to whether to his knowledge the Longyear line had given adequate service prior to the starting of the Schoonmaker line. The hearing closed about 5 o'clock and was submitted by counsel for the two petitioning lines without argument. The attorneys were Francis C. Merritt for Earle Schoonmaker; Andrew J. Cook for Stanley Longyear; John W. Eckert for the Merrihew Brothers, owners of the Pine Hill-Kingston line, their busses running through West Hurley and Stony Hollow and they being interested; and William H. Grogan for the Woodstock Community Center.

THREE TRAFFIC CASES HEARD IN CITY COURT

There were three cases before Judge Schirick in police court this morning. Charles Lamphere of Hurley was arrested Wednesday by Officer Shoemaker for passing a traffic standard to the left. He pleaded guilty and explained he had done so to avoid hitting a man crossing the road. His explanation was accepted and he was discharged.

Antonio DeCicco of East Kingston and Raymond Hale of 60 Smith avenue, were both arrested on a charge of speeding Wednesday. The arrests were made by Motorcycle Officer Soper. Each was fined $10.

BROOKLYN GANGSTER FOUND BEATEN TO DEATH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 1.—William ("Bill") Lovett, known as Brooklyn's leading gangster, was found dead early today in a rear room of a building at 25 Bridge street, Brooklyn. He apparently had been beaten to death. Lovett's body was found by Patrolman James Ryan, assigned to search the premises each day. There was no one in the room save the slain gangster.

Dr. Irving J. Kernis said Lovett had been beaten with a blunt instrument on the right side of the head.

O. L. EASTMAN INSTALLED OVERLOOK TELEGRAPH LINE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 1.—Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby and conqueror of Papyrus, the English champion, was to be placed aboard a special train today and shipped to Latonia, where on Saturday he races a great field for the $50,000 Latonia championship.

STRESEMANN IS TAKEN ILL

Under Strain Of Steering Germany Through Strikes, Secession And Riots And Latest Socialist Menace.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Nov. 1—Chancellor Gustav Stresemann, whose master statesmanship so far has piloted Germany through the crisis of secession, strikes and rioting, has fallen ill under the strain, it was learned today. It was said, however, that his condition is not serious

The situation has been further complicated by the demands of the Socialist leaders. After demanding the resignation of President Ebert and the Socialist members of the cabinet they modified the latter demand, voting for retention of the Socialist ministers on condition the military dictatorship is converted into a civilian dictatorship.

The Socialists are urging the withdrawal of the 60,000 Reichwehr troops from Saxony.

The nationalist government of Bavaria is still defying the Socialists. General Von Lossow is retained in command of the federal troops in Bavaria.

It is reported that a railroad blockade may be established around Bavaria in order to protect the neighboring states and to aid in bringing the Munich government to meet Berlin's demands.

TREATY SACRED, SAYS POINCARE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Nevers, France, Nov. 1.—Premier Poincare, in a speech here today solemnly warned the experts who may be appointed to the international reparations commission "to keep their hands off the Treaty of Versailles." He said the treaty must be enforced in its original form. M. Poincare presided at the unveiling of a monument to the Nevers war dead.

"The Versailles Treaty is sacred to France," said the premier. "It was sealed with the blood of our dead. We will no let it be touched.

"The moment France is negotiating with German industrialists to take for reparations some of the formidable profits they have made since 1919, the moment we see the last spasm of German resistance is not the moment to change our conduct. We will not change it.

"We are desirous of solving the grave questions confronting us as rapidly as possible in complete agreement with our allies, but we will not retreat on the question of fixing the amount of our bill against Germany, abandon our rights, renounce our pledges or tear up the treaty that was signed by so many nations.

"We are willing to examine what Germany can pay now or within a short time.

LATONIA TRACK RECORD EXPECTED TO BE BROKEN

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 1.—With My Own quartered today at Latonia and Zev and Rialto on the way here, interest in Saturday's great 1¾ miles Latonia championship stake is increasing hourly. Barring mishap to any of the leading candidates, and with a fast track prevailing, Rockminister's track record for the distance 2:55 3/5—made last year, may be shattered.

The race closed with seventy-six nominations, but the appearance of Zev, My Own and Rialto has caused withdrawal of many western horses which would otherwise have contested for the $50,000 prize.

In Memoriam, the west's main reliance in the race, had a good workout yesterday and is reported in fine trim.

Increased sale of reserved seats at Latonia was reported following arrival of My Own.

The track, which has been heavy for the past few days, is rapidly drying and indications point to it being fast by Saturday.

COCHRAN AND SCHAEFER ONLY ONES UNDEFEATED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 1.—Welker Cochran, author of surprising defeat of Willie Hoppe last night, will have slight chance to rest on his laurels in the International 18.2 balkline billiard championship. He will be asked to appear in the first of three matches on today's schedule, facing Erich Hagenlocher, champion of Germany. The match will begin shortly after noon.

The others will involve Jake Schaaefer and Roger Conti, the French champion, and Hoppe and Edouard Horemans, of Belgium. The latter affair will be conducted tonight. Cochrane and Schaefer are the only undefeated entries, the former having won two matches and the latter one.

Launch Grain Barge.

Dwyer Brothers, boat builders on the Rondout creek, launched the eighth grain boat for the New York Central Railroad Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. She was christened the "Crickmore," and is one of the small class, being 100 feet over all and 26 foot beam. Her capacity is 20,000 bushels. The Dwyer Brothers are preparing to build two boats for themselves on the type of the New York Central grain boats.

BRICKYARDS ARE GOING FULL BLAST

Piling up Stock For Next Spring—Prices Hold Strong and Conditions Never Better in That Industry.

Conditions in the brick industry as of October 1 are thus described by the Common Brick Manufacturers' Association monthly digest

Not since the war have the brickmen gone into the closing months of the year with such determination to pile up stock as is manifested in current reports of 132 manufacturers doing business on 43 states. The situation on the Hudson river, which provides the brick supply for Greater New York operations, is indicative of what is going on in all the large brick-producing centers. By the time Hudson River navigation opens next spring it is anticipated that the plants along the river will have 600,000,000 brick ready for shipment to their markets. This is 50 per cent greater than the winter stock in any recent year.

Plants are running at full time and will continue until freezing weather stops operations Those plants equipped for winter running will continue throughout the interim before the coming season. These preparations are going on with the New York manufacturers in spite of the fact that quantities of foreign brick still lie on barges at the dock and many more millions of brick are on their way from Holland and Germany

There apparently is not much left of the buyers' strike and operations are at the usual volume in nearly all parts of the country. The orders on the books, according to current reports, have increased during the past 30 days while the stocks of burned brick are just about holding their own Prices remain stable, ranging from $11 to $22 according to the amount of transportation necessary to put the brick on the job The large production figures and the state of the orders on the books are encouraging in view of the fact that many yards are closing for the winter due to weather conditions

The brick men observe with some interest the published statement that American lumbermen are preparing to ship 3,000,000,000 feet to Japan. Since the order from Japan equals about 40 per cent of the total consumption of lumber in this country in an average year, and the source of lumber is rapidly diminishing, it is apparent that many operations which might normally go in lumber will seek other materials This condition it is believed will give new impetus to the already growing demand for brick The brick manufacturers generally has never looked for better construction for a market. Co-operative advertising effort, however, in the past few years has been directed largely to the home builder and the results attained have caused the manufacturers to think more seriously of this market.

In a normal year the United States should build 600,000 homes. If 20 per cent of these should have exterior walls of brick it would use 6,000,000,000 brick which is two-thirds of the greatest production in any year All permanent materials combined have been getting only about 11 per cent of residence buildings

There is a marked labor shortage in some parts of the country and this is a problem which disturbs manufacturers

The cost of producing brick has not lowered during the year and there is nothing to indicate that it can be made at a lower cost next year

FIXING UP SMALL APARTMENT EASY.

Paint and Paper May Give More Happiness Than the Movies.

A few dollars spent on paint and wall paper will frequently do much to make the small apartment more homelike, and contribute more to the family's happiness than several visits to the movies, which would easily equal the cost of the paper and paint, says the home economics specialists at the state college at Ithaca

Spaciousness, they say, is about the hardest effect to attain. Having the walls of the dining room, living room and hall of one color will help more than anything else to produce this

Massive furniture completely dwarfs small rooms. A few good willow chairs are much better and cheaper than are heavy, stuffy ones. One big wing-arm chair covered with linen, chintz or dull toned corduroy is the only big chair that most living rooms of apartment of ordinary size need. A willow chair with a basket pocket for sewing materials or magazines may be a willow rocker, a few straight chairs and possibly a comfortable couch, are enough for a pleasant room.

Windsor or rush-bottom chairs are the best for a simple dining room. The small bed rooms should, of course, be paperd or painted in some plain, soft color. Gay chintzes in furnishings may be used to brighten the rooms. It is well to use these small rooms only for sleeping and dressing.

Apartment halls are generally long, narrow and uninteresting, and are not the place for furniture. A hall may stand a small table near the front door, a tile for umbrellas, and a mirror, but that's all.

The Psychology of a Lie.

Pip's Analysis in "Great Expectations:" "It was much upon my mind that I ought to tell Joe the whole truth. Yet I did not, and for the reason that I mistrusted that if I did, he would think me worse than I was. The fear of losing Joe's confidence, and of thenceforth sitting in the chimney corner at night staring drearily at my forever lost companion and friend, tied up my tongue. . . . In a word, I was too cowardly to do what I knew to be right, as I had been too cowardly to avoid doing what I knew to be wrong."

Red Seal Concert and Operatic

			DOUBLE-FACED Number	List Price
Sonata in B Minor—Finale (Chopin) Nocturne (Grieg) Piano Solo	Piano Solo	Olga Samaroff Olga Samaroff	6419	$2.00

Melodies of indescribable beauty pervade Chopin's B Minor Sonata throughout. Grieg's Nocturne is one of the most poetic and imaginative fantasies of the lonely Northern composer.

Faust—Waltz from Kermesse Scene Mignon—Gavotte (Thomas)		Stokowski and Philadelphia Orch.	944	1.50

Stokowski calls the Faust waltz the "lightest and gayest waltz in the world," and the gavotte "probably the daintiest that ever was written."

The World is Waiting for the Sunrise Rose in the Bud (Benson-Forster)		Reinald Werrenrath Reinald Werrenrath	951	1.50

To hear a frankly popular song interpreted by a great artist is an experience to both the musician and the layman. Here are two sung in rich baritone with both strength and tenderness.

Light Vocal Selections

When Clouds Have Vanished and Skies are Blue Why Don't My Dreams Come True?		Elliott Shaw Henry Burr	19152	.75

Simple yet emotional songs of common life—of common aspirations and understandings. Both are in waltz time. "When Clouds Have Vanished" introduces "Love's Old Sweet Song."

Complainin' (It's Human Nature to Complain) I Got		Eddie Hunter Eddie Hunter	19154	.75

The first Victor record by this singer of negro comedy songs. Both songs are characteristic and sung in half-spoken style.

Humorous Monologue

In a Shoe Store The Symphony Concert		Marie Cahill Marie Cahill	45370	1.00

This clever and dainty comedienne has found two new sources for her delicate and at times satiric humor. You will recognize in her impersonations a type of the Eternal Feminine.

Dance Records

I Love You—Fox Trot (from "Little Jesse James") The Life of a Rose—Fox Trot		Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra Dornberger and His Orch.	19151	.75

Clear, melodious fox trots. "I Love You" has the wonderful Whiteman smoothness and finish. "The Life of a Rose" has high sweet harmonies almost like a women's choir.

Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake—Fox Trot Oh, You Little Sun-Uv-Er-Gun—Fox Trot		Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra Benson Orchestra of Chicago	19155	.75

"Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake" which you have heard as a song is now given in dance form. "Sun-Uv-Er-Gun" is an excellent companion, with a startling bit of piano work.

Just a Girl that Men Forget—Waltz Steal a Little Kiss While Dancing—Waltz		The Troubadours Green-Arden Orchestra	19156	.75

Two waltz numbers. "Just a Girl that Men Forget" you already know in song form. "Steal a Little Kiss While Dancing" has saxophone and xylophone effects in fine contrast.

Craze for Things of Spanish Style

Shawl Vogue Is Increasing Among American Women Seeking Colors.

A well-known artist who is a keen observer of the trend of the times has expressed the opinion that women are becoming color-blind, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. He believes they are indulging in such extravagance of color in their dress and surroundings that their eyes will lose their appreciation of values and after a time will no longer be able to tell one color from another. With true masculine cynicism, this painter who need no inconsistency in blue grass, green skies, and pink snow on canvas, comments thus regarding the fashionable woman of today and her wardrobe.

It is undoubtedly a season of riotous color. We have been coming to it rather casually, but the craze for the Egyptian type started the correspondingly lavish use of dyes, and now there appears in the latest styles only enough of black, white and the quieter tones to emphasize the intensity of the hues in the new gowns, wraps and millinery and even in the jewelry.

While the other side of the world is engulfed in blackest night of mourning, we, on two shores of the Atlantic, are reveling in the gayest, the most bizarre, and the costliest, fairly intoxicated by the wealth of it all. The windows of the big shops are ablaze with fabrics fit to adorn a Sheba or a Solomon. The best talent of European ateliers has been engaged in creating for present-day wear such combinations and high lights in the weave and sheen of dress goods as make the leaders of fashion of earlier days look like doves. The designs are painted with a large brush, and the colors are an education in art.

The latest phase of this delirium is inspired by Spain, and there is a craze for things Spanish. The Spanish shawl has always been used for picture purposes, for fancy costumes, in house decoration and on the stage. But only lately have smart women worn it as a practical wrap, as they wear the newest and most stereotyped French cape or coat.

For two years past this vogue has been increasing. American women acquiring very slowly a taste for the things of Latin Europe. King Tut led us so far into the land of symbols, hitherto strange to us, that the sunniness of Spanish color and pattern is graceful, and suddenly the whole Spanish scheme of costuming is upon us.

Spanish Shawl of Old.

The traditional Spanish shawl, that with which we are most familiar, Carmen's cloak of witchery, is one of many-colored flowers embroidered on a white ground, to be wrapped about the figure in a way made famous by the cigarette girl of Bizet's opera. But Carmen probably never dreamed of its possibilities in the hands of the modistes of the Twentieth century.

The many-colored shawl is still shown, the designs exaggerated until roses are embroidered the size of dinner plates. Made to harmonize with modern dress, the shawls are of one or two colors, the number and variety fairly bewildering. In black and white, yellow and white, royal purple and white, in raisin upon mauve, heliotrope upon gendarme blue, orange upon flame color, scarlet upon petunia, and so on through the possible blendings. Some of them are enchanting, and now, the style having taken hold, the shawls are finding eager purchasers.

Designers of fashions find many charming adaptations of the Spanish shawl. As an evening wrap over a gown of black velvet it has an assured vogue. Over black or ivory satin nothing could be more stunning. In a day when society dashes madly from one diversion to another, women find the shawl a joy because it can be so easily and so quickly thrown on.

The fringe on the shawls is now made extremely long, trailing the carpet of the smart restaurants, where it is seen in all its glory. In a hand some model an all-white shawl is draped gracefully over a white satin gown severely made. Black and gray over orange, and white over jade green are some of the other combinations evolved as imagination soars.

For day wear the shawl is a comfort to be drawn over the shoulders in the cool air. It makes a delightful tea gown, with foundation of soft satin or chiffon, and a luxury as a dressing gown. However used, the Spanish shawl is loved for itself, its beauty and its softness. No metallic note is found in it.

Vogue for Spanish Lace.

Like so many novelties that find their way to us from afar, this feature of the dress of a south European country is accepted without question as being Spanish. The women of Spain wear the shawl, but it is embroidered by Chinese and Filipinos. In fact, the Spaniards speak of it as the Manton Manila, and surely none but Oriental wizards with the needle could create those wonders that look as if they had never been touched by human hands.

Spanish lace has been more easily brought into vogue over here and for several reasons has been growing in popularity. Some lovely gowns made entirely of the lace are shown by representative houses, usually in black. Its silky softness is much liked, and the addition of a bit of jet, a colored girdle, a garniture of flowers, gives chic to many of them. The introduction of the lace in deep flounces, on the skirt, for sleeves, collars, berthas, capes and scarfs, or as a part of the gown itself, is shown in many graceful models.

One of the most attractive designs seen this season from a New York couturiere is a dancing frock of ivory Spanish lace made over a slip of peach-colored satin. It was built in the style of the sixties, with full skirt of ankle length, snug bodice and a wide ruffle of the lace around the decollete neck. A trailing spray of flowers at one side finished a slender girdle of silver cord. A drop skirt of pale rose chiffon, upon which was sewn a deep band of silver lace showing through the outer skirt, made a most enchanting costume.

Spanish lace is now dyed in a great variety of delicate shades for evening gowns, and in one respect is economical, because so little trimming is required. That anything so fanciful in dress can endure is unlikely, but for the time Spain and things Spanish are very much in the limelight.

With Spanish shawls and gowns of Spanish lace come irresistibly the fan, the comb and other accessories. Fans are exceedingly smart. They are of lace with sticks of amber, shell, ivory or mother of pearl, some studded with brilliants. Feather fans are the most fashionable. They are shown in gorgeous plumes and novelty feathers, and are regarded as the quintessence of elegance.

One part of a Spanish woman's dress is likely not to be adopted by her American sisters: that is the mantilla. Maturity of thought and beauty comes so early under the skies of Spain, that the mantilla is accepted. But one cannot fancy a Spanish mantilla with bobbed or plastered locks and the general flapper makeup.

Smaller Things Get Attention.

In a season so ornate and colorful as the present, with flowers, wraps and furs worth a king's ransom being worn, the smaller things of the toilet quite logically follow the line. Apropos Spanish shawls and gowns and laces, the most bewitching slippers to be worn with lace dance frocks are shown in satin and metal brocades. They are to be had in dainty shades in many different styles, with expensive buckles or ornaments of rhinestones, or rosettes of lace. The fancy sandals of the summer are repeated in these shoes with numerous variations.

Buckles are both large and small. Ribbon bows, fan-shaped ornaments and tiny jeweled buttons are among the popular trimmings for setting up an evening shoe, and the heel must be French or Spanish, a heel de luxe on a slipper of white and silver brocade being studded with rhinestones. The stockings are more sheer and fancy than ever before. Medallions of chantilly are let into the instep of black or white silk stockings, and some exceptionally dainty lace patterns extend from the vamp to the boot top. One hears less now of the French or the Cuban heel. It must be the Spanish heel, particularly on shoes for afternoon, which differ little except in color from evening slippers.

Impossible.

They say Americans don't make good waiters. They simply can't look humble in the presence of a clerk playing a duke on Saturday night.—Duluth Herald.

HAYNES ASPIRES TO CENSORSHIP.

Another instance of the stretching by the Volstead Law of the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment and the further stretching of that law by those it clothes with authority is found in recent threats made by Commissioner Haynes in reference to Section 17 of the Volstead Law. This section is as follows:

It shall be unlawful to advertise anywhere, or by any means or method, liquor, or the manufacture, sale, keeping for sale or furnishing of the same, or where, how, from whom, or at what price the same may be obtained. No one shall permit any sign or billboard containing such advertisement to remain upon one's premises. But nothing herein shall prohibit manufacturers and wholesale druggists holding permits to sell liquor, from furnishing price lists, with description of liquor for sale, to persons permitted to purchase liquor, or from advertising alcohol in business publications or trade journals circulating generally among manufacturers of lawful alcoholic perfumes, toilet preparations, flavoring extracts, medicinal preparations, and like articles.

This section prohibits the advertising in any way by a retail dealer of the lawful sale of liquor. A druggist who has a stock of liquor that is pure and that he can guarantee, is forbidden to state that fact in an advertisement. In the present condition of the drug trade in liquor, such an announcement from a reliable druggist would be a guide to both physicians and the rich to whom physicians have given prescriptions. Druggists may, and often do, advertise the purity and price of blue vitriol, arsenate of lead, arsenate of copper, bichloride of mercury and other deadly poisons used by farmers and fruit growers for the cure or prevention of plant diseases and the killing of insects, but they are not permitted by the Volstead Law to advertise the purity or even the possession of alcoholic liquors for sale as a medicine.

Even this senseless tyranny is not enough to suit Commissioner Haynes, who is considering the possibility of bringing suit against newspapers that, in connection with news of law enforcement and law violation, have printed as part of the news the prices bootleggers and rum runners were receiving. It seems that a press censorship is to be built up on the foundation of the Eighteenth Amendment, in addition to the other needless and oppressive laws and rules that have nothing to do with the provisions of that little understood section of the Constitution.

THE COUNTY FARM

No farmer in Ulster county, if he intended to leave his farm for a year, would trust his property and the raising of crops to a person who did not have ability both as a farmer and business man. Every farmer in Ulster county has a direct interest in one of the biggest farms in the county,—owned by the county and known as the Ulster county farm. It is the home, for the rest of their lives, of the unfortunate poor.

In order that the high standard of efficiency at the county institution and farm which have been maintained during the administrations of Cornelius L. Van Orden and William S. Hartshorn shall be continued, the Republican party nominated Lester L. Sagendorf for county superintendent of the poor. Mr. Sagendorf is experienced both in business and farming, and the success of his own farm in the town of Woodstock shows what such experience can do. He is also experienced in public affairs, having administered the business of the town of Woodstock as supervisor for eight years.

While serving as supervisor, Mr. Sagendorf for five years came in direct contact with the county poor house and farm, having served during that time on the supervisors' committee on superintendent of the poor accounts. His knowledge of the institution and farm is second only to that of the superintendent. Added to that is the fact that he is a practical business man and farmer; a man whose humane nature would cause him to be selected as eminently fitting to take charge of old people whose misfortune it is to be poor.

Ulster county is proud of the results which have been accomplished at the county poor farm at New Paltz. The best way to continue such satisfactory results is by the election of a man in every way qualified to manage the poor house and farm. Such a man is Lester L. Sagendorf.

SENTIMENT AND SENSE.

The coroner occupies an important place in our plan of government. When his services are needed, they are needed promptly, and in the selection of a nominee for that office, the Republican party considered the geographical relationship of one part of the county to another and wisely renominated Howard B. Humiston of Kerhonkson. Mr. Humiston has filled the office acceptably during the past three years and has rendered prompt and efficient service. The present geographical distribution of the three coroners of the county is extremely practical. One is located at Marlborough, one in Kingston city and one at Kerhonkson. From these three centers a coroner is within prompt calling distance when emergency arises in any part of the county which requires his presence.

The office of coroner is not a sentimental office, but sentiment and common sense should be displayed in locating coroners in such a way that there will not be any loss of time in procuring their attendance when it is required. Aside from that fact, Coroner Humiston has discharged his duties creditably, and in numerous difficult cases has displayed tact and good judgment which have relieved situations which otherwise might have proved troublesome for families already burdened with grief. He should be re-elected.

The Twelfth ward is one of the most important wards in the city and for that reason the Republican party has selected William G. Smith, one of the representative men of the ward, as its candidate for alderman, realizing that the ward should be adequately represented in the common council. With the growth of the city, both in population and influence, it is realized that men of ability and intelligence should be selected as members of the common council. The voters of the Twelfth ward will make no mistake in electing Mr. Smith.

John A. Flannery, who has received the endorsement of both the Republican and Democratic parties as candidate for alderman of the Thirteenth ward, is a man who may be depended upon to serve the best interests of all the residents of the ward. It was for that reason that he received the nomination for alderman without opposition. Mr. Flannery is widely known throughout ward and is held in high esteem. His election will reflect credit on the Thirteenth ward.

James Miller, the well known garage man on Broadway, is the Republican candidate for alderman of the Third ward and should be elected by a large majority. Mr. Miller has been a resident of that ward for a number of years and there is no man in the ward who is better acquainted with its needs. In electing Mr. Miller to represent the ward in the common council the voters will make no mistake. With the election of Albert H. Cook as mayor, the support of a Republican common council is needed, and the Third ward should see to it that the first of the year it is represented by Alderman James Miller.

$6,000 FOR FALSE ARREST

Man Who Bought Box of Candy in One Chain Store Mobbed When Employe in Another Said He Stole It.

An interesting case was tried by former Judge William D. Cunningham before Judge McCook and a jury in the supreme court, New York city, last week. Kermit Roosevelt, son of the former president, was on the jury. William Leslie sued the Liggett Company, operators of a great chain of drug stores, for damages for false arrest and malicious prosecution. In October, 1918, Leslie entered the Liggett drug store in the Times building with a box of Liggett candy purchased at another Liggett's store in his hand. A saleslgirl, thinking he had stolen it from her counter, charged him with theft and called the manager, who reiterated the charge in the presence of a large number of people. Leslie protested his innocence, but the store employes insisted on his guilt. The crowd in the store became threatening and Leslie ran. He was pursued by several hundred people who were listening to Liberty Loan speakers at Times Square. The crowd thinking he was a German sympathizer, cried out: "Mob him! Lynch him!" He was rescued by Police Sergeant Patrick McDonald, champion weight thrower of the world, and taken back to Liggett's store, where a charge of larceny was made against him.

He was kept in jail two days and several months later was tried in the court of special sessions and acquitted. He sued the company and he was non-suited at a trial about one year ago. His present attorneys retained Judge Cunningham to try the second case. The company was defended by Littleton Fox, partner of Judge Morgan J. O'Brien.

The jury returned a verdict for Leslie of $6,000.

Diamond Rings $15.00

The price does not tell you of the splendid value these rings really are.

The diamonds, though small, are bright little stones, and the ring of 18-Kt. White Gold is much more attractive than you would think possible for the price asked.

DATA FOR U. S. TAX COLLECTOR

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue Cyrus Durey of the Fourteenth district of New York:

Forms 1099 and 1096 for filing returns of information are available today at the office of collector of internal revenue, Albany, New York, and the following branch offices: Troy, New York, post office building; Schenectady, New York county building; Newburgh, New York, post office building; Poughkeepsie, New York, post office building; Bronx, New York, Hupfel building, 161st street and 3rd avenue.

The early release will be of aid to firms, corporations and businesses employing large forces, which annually are required to report to the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington payments of $1,000 or more made during the preceding calendar year.

A separate return of information for each employe whose salary for 1923 was $1,000 or more is required of employers on Form 1099. Form 1096, on which must be shown the number of separate returns, serves as a letter of transmittal.

Banks and similar organizations are required to report interest paid or credited to a depositor in the total during the year equalled or exceeded $1,000. Information returns are carefully checked with individual returns. If in a taxpayer's individual return a payment reported on an information return is omitted, action by the bureau of internal revenue follows.

Copies of the forms will be sent to those who filed similar returns for 1922. The filing period is from January 1 to March 15, 1924.

J. PHILIP BEICHERT.

J. Philip Beichert, Democratic candidate for alderman of the Second ward, has served that ward as its representative in the common council for the past few years, and during that time has devoted his time and energy in obtaining improvements in the ward. He is thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the ward and during the time he has served the ward as its alderman he has worked to serve the best interests of every resident of the ward, irrespective of party affiliation. Alderman Beichert has always been interested in fire matters and is now president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, a member of the New York State Firemen's Association and of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

In the several years have been built the greatest number of new homes and new streets have been utilized and Mr. Beichert has been untiring in his efforts to see that lights, sewers, sidewalks and other conveniences were installed on time. No request has been too small for his attention.

Alderman Beichert should be returned to the common council and no mistake will be made in placing the cross mark in front of his name on the election ballot on Novem-

VOODOO MAGIC AMONG NEGROES

Black Magic of African Jungles Still Practiced.

BLACKS PREDICT OWN DEATHS

Voodooism is dead. The black magic of African jungles long since was laid away by science and education and religion. It could not thrive in these days of the airplane and the radio. Its last stand was in the canebrakes and the cotton patches of Louisiana and Mississippi, but the first flickering electric lights in New Orleans decades ago drove it away forever.

But, nevertheless, they'll tell you at the place where science holds the most undisputed sway, the hospital, there are cases—.

In the negro ward are brought the ground-up needles, the pebbles picked up in the light of the new moon at the crossroads, and the tongues of big frogs bleached in red marked canvas bags which are worn about the necks of the patients. The doctors laugh and the nurses scoff as they throw them away.

Died on Schedule.

Bed No. 12 in the colored men's ward of the Charity hospital died on schedule time.

Late in the afternoon Bed 12 was examined by the doctors. He appeared to be getting bettter. Certainly, he showed no dangerous symptoms.

But when the nurse passed a glass of water over him to Bed 13, the man in that bed refused it.

"It's got them things in it, nurse," declared Bed 13.

The nurse held it up to the light. Bed 12 and Bed 13 looked at each other and grinned.

"There's nothing in this water, boy."

"Yes, ma'am, you can't see nothing," said Bed 13. "But there's always things in water passed over a man that's going to be leaving soon."

Set Time of Death.

"Boy's right," Bed 12 murmured. "Everything's going to be over tonight."

The day nurse told the night nurse about this matter at seven o'clock before she hurried off to change clothes for a movie.

In the early part of the night Bed 12 slept, but he awoke a little before one o'clock.

"Everything's going to be over in five minutes," said Bed 12.

The nurse went back to her table in the hall where the record of the miseries of her patients is kept in words such as a mechanical god might use. She sat a few minutes wondering if she should call the ward doctor out of bed. She half decided to call him, but she went back to the ward before going to the telephone. Bed 12 was dead.

Nurses Take Away Charms.

Psychology, explains the doctors, and the nurses agree with an eager "of course." But the patients with the rabbits' feet and the pebbles don't care to argue the question.

Not long ago there was a negro woman with pellagra, who called the nurse to her bed and said she saw the angels coming for her. That woman was getting better. There was every reason to believe she was going to get well.

"They'll be here about three o'clock," said the woman.

And at 3:05 she died.

Most likely the bags with their charms are the work of the devil, as one of the sisters who are nurses put it. And so they take them away from the patients and burn them. There are pleadings sometimes, but usually just mumblings.

Silver Coin in Onion.

It's not always at the hospital, either. The other day a colored woman, who was remarkable for her white skin, was murdered by her Chinese lover, and since all her possessions have been collected and searched in settling the estate, which amounted to more than $4,000. Her estate was turned over to the public administrator, Thomas Nicholls. Among the effects were found certain packages that indicated pretty strongly that the woman had practiced voodoo rites—a coconut emptied of its natural contents and filled with an evil-smelling liquid—a silver dollar found within the cut halves of an onion, and all wrapped in pink silk rags that had once been part of luxurious and costly garments.

Materia medica takes no stock in frogs' tongues, but here is the case of an old negro man brought to the Charity hospital by his employer:

"This fellow says he is going to die next Tuesday," said the employer. "See what you can do for him."

The old negro was, so far as the doctors could find out, not a bit sick.

But he died when Tuesday came.

To Maintain Shine on Brass.

Brass is a combination of two metals, copper and zinc. The best polish, but the hardest to obtain, is obtained by long rubbing with a mixture of rottenstone and linseed oil. This type of polish is soft and does not tarnish readily, but it is hard work to obtain. A quicker polish, and brighter one, can be obtained with the metal polishes. Brass bedsteads that have been lacquered can be cleaned at home if you first remove the lacquer with alcohol.

London's First Electric Sign.

The first real electric sign was constructed and displayed in London about thirty years ago. This was a writing sign, which consisted of the lighting up of lamp by lamp so that the effect was that of the words being actually written out. The first advertising device on present-day lines showed a dinner party. The diners were represented as taking soup, and they raised their spoons to their mouths in a most realistic manner.

Boring Hole in Glass.

It has been said that one way to bore a hole in a piece of glass was to build up a circular dam of damp clay or sand and pour molten lead into the "crater." Now it has been learned that this method, while formerly in use for some types of glass boring, is not practical with present-day glass and when the holes are made in this way they are uneven and unsatisfactory. Glass experts say that the present approved method for small holes is to grind a three-cornered file down to a sharp point and use it as a drill after first pouring turpentine on the glass at the point where it is to be drilled.

Another Scheme.

A feminine voice was heard from the steps of a crowded car: "Oh, get in, dear, some one will give you a seat." The next moment two young women entered. The men in the car were on their mettle. They read papers sternly. Those who had no papers closed their eyes and pretended to slumber. The too certain women glanced down the car in vain. The car went on for half a mile, and then a man alighted. "There's a seat for one," said the conductor. "Don't take it, dear," said one of the young women, "some man will want it." In the moment of defeat she triumphed.

Lips Reveal Much.

Shapeless lips show a shapeless character, one which cannot easily decide things and has really no cheerfulness or happiness. Pouting lips show some sulkiness and selfishness, and are only pretty in a very young child. Lips which remain open always show a selfish, rather vacant and inclined to be chatty nature, not very reliable and fond of comfort, ease and gayety. A flat upper lip shows a want of refinement and a long one shows obstinacy; a short curled upper lip is a good sign, showing a nice nature, genial, charming and refined.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

COPYRIGHT BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

MR. BUTTERFLY'S JOURNEY

Mr. Monarch Butterfly gazed up at the smiling, happy face of Mr. Sun. Then he looked down at the milkweed plant upon which he was perched.

In the Neighborhood of the Milkweed.

"I'll have to leave you," he said to the milkweed plant, "but you will come along, too," he added, as once more he looked at Mr. Sun.

Mr. Sun blinked as much as to say that that was right.

What a life his had been, the Monarch thought to himself. Did people ever realize what a thrilling, exciting, sweet life a butterfly could have? He went back in his little butterfly mind over the summer.

He hadn't remembered when he had been but a little egg on one of these milkweed plants. Nor did he remember when he had hatched out into a tiny black and white caterpillar. But he had been told that he had been a dear little baby caterpillar, and then life had begun in earnest for him.

My! He shivered as he thought of it now—that day when he had been almost trampled upon three times! What a day that had been.

Then he had changed into a beautiful Chrysalis, wearing a gorgeous green suit with gold decorations.

And ever since he had left off that suit for his present one he had decided he would not change again.

"If I did," he said to himself, "it would upset all the Rules of Butterfly Air." He spoke of it as Butterfly Air instead of Butterfly Land, as he spent so much time in the air.

"Besides," he had decided, "everyone knows me as I am now. At least I hope they know the Monarch! I hope when they see a handsome butterfly of brown with smart black lines and white-spotted black wing edges and head decorations that it is a Monarch they are beholding.

"But if they don't know that, I'd like to tell them a secret. We're always in the neighborhood of the milkweed plants from the time we're babies until we're quite grown-up. And if I could put up Butterfly signs to direct people to our homes I'd print on the signs:

"'To the Milkweed Plants in the Country—Homes of the Famous Monarch Butterflies.'"

Lately he had been very glad that butterflies could not put up signs telling people where their homes were, for he had had several narrow escapes from butterfly nets.

"And now I'm going on my journey," he said, "but before I go I shall pay a farewell call on my old friend Sir Clouded Sulphur Butterfly."

The Monarch left the milkweed plant and took one last look about him.

"I haven't left anything behind," he said, "because I never take anything with me. I don't need a tooth-brush and I don't need a wash-rag. All I need is myself.

"And that I always have. Perhaps I should not speak of myself in such a fashion, but when a butterfly is about to take a great long journey he cannot think of such little trifles.

"Ah, what a time I'll have." And Mr. Sun will go with me. For Mr. Sun and I are the best of friends.

"But of course I must say a good-by to Sir Clouded Sulphur Butterfly. That I must do, and then I will be all ready to start.

"Heigh-ho," he said.

"I do believe," he added after a moment, "that I will sing a song about Mr. Sun."

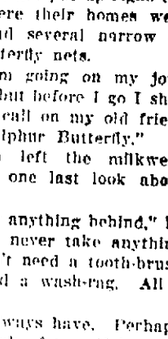
"Oh," said Mr. Sun, "I will be honored if you sing a song about me. I will be truly flattered and pleased."

"You deserve all the flattery and pleasure you get," smiled the Monarch. "I will begin my song at once, before I pay my call."

"Do," said Mr. Sun.

This was the Monarch's song:

"The Sun is kind and mighty,
And yet he's not a snob;
For he doesn't turn his face aside,
But will smile at any old mob."



"I Am Truly Delighted."

"Oh, that is a fine song," said Mr. Sun after the Monarch had finished. "I am truly delighted."

"You deserve it, you deserve it," said the Monarch, as he started off for the last call he was to make before he took his journey south for the winter months.

"Thank you, thank you," called Mr. Sun after him. "I cannot begin to tell you how pleased I am. But perhaps I'll be able to show you in my sunny fashion."

GOOD THINGS FOR OCCASIONS

An appetizing sandwich which is not common may be prepared as follows:

Remove the crusts from bread and spread with horseradish butter. To make this, cream six tablespoonfuls of butter and add, gradually, four tablespoonfuls of grated horseradish root, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, and salt and a dash of cayenne.

Raisin Fritters.—Scald two cupfuls of milk with one-inch stick of cinnamon. Mix one-half cupful of sugar, one-quarter cupful of cornstarch, three tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter cupful of cold milk. Add the scalded milk and cook ten minutes, then add the yolks of three eggs and one-third of a cupful of raisins cooked until plump in a little fruit juice, then cut into small pieces. Turn into a pan, spread evenly and cool. Remove from the pan, cut into squares or diamond shapes, dip into crumbs and egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat. Serve hot with a fruit sauce.

Egg Ramekins.—Half-fill buttered ramekins with hot-boiled rice, drop an uncooked egg in each, sprinkle with salt, paprika and grated cheese or chopped boiled ham. Set in a pan containing boiling water, cover and bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set.

Washington Pie.—Bake two layers of layer cake; put together with sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Serve cut in pie-shaped pieces.

Corn, Southern Style.—To one can of chopped corn add two eggs, slightly beaten, one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one pint of scalded milk. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven until firm.

Baked Potatoes.—Choose even-sized potatoes, scrub well and bake until soft. Slash in two-inch gashes at right angles on the flat side of each potato. Press to force the potato through the opening; drop a half tablespoonful of butter into each and sprinkle with paprika.

FARMERS SHOULD KNOW VALUE OF WOODLOTS

Unprofitable to Sell Timber Without Accurate Information.

Too many farmers, according to the forestry authorities at the state college of agriculture at Cornell, do not have any idea of the value of the timber in the farm woodlot and when they come to sell this timber they are likely to be fleeced by unscrupulous buyers. It is almost as if they had deposits in the savings bank and then sold the sum of these deposits to anyone who came along and made an offer, however small, for the accumulated savings.

A bulletin issued by the college says that the value of timber on the stump in the farm woodlot depends on three things. First, the kind of timber; second, the cost of cutting, hauling, sawing and transferring the timber to the shipping point; and third, the supply of and demand for any given kind of timber. The last of these three factors is likely to vary the most, and the owner of timber lands should watch it closely so that advantage may be taken of good market.

Woodlots may be improved for years by taking out for cord wood the defective, under-sized and less valuable kinds of trees and leaving the valuable ones of good form to grow and add the best value for lumber. Under the circumstances, the college says, the owner of timber land should know just how many board feet his woods contain and should supervise all work in the woods so carefully that even after a cutting the woodlot will be left in better condition than it was before.

A bulletin on estimating the value of timber in the farm woodlot is available at the college of agriculture for any that are interested as long as the supply lasts. A post card addressed to the college at Ithaca, asking for E 49 will bring this publication.

One Open Car That Gives Closed-Car Comfort

Thanks to an original and exclusive type of storm curtains, owners of the new series Hupmobile touring car or roadster may now enjoy all the protection and comfort of an enclosed car.

These curtains mark the end of all the inconveniences usually associated with equipment of this kind. Because of their design, their close fit, and the method employed in attaching them, they are the greatest advance yet made in this field. They solve forever the problem of protection from rain, wind and cold.

The new Hupmobile curtains, of course, open with the door, but they are unique in that they are metal-framed and always flat. They are never rolled. Curtain lights can not be scratched.

These curtains are attached in individual flat units and are stowed away flat in the envelope compartment at the back of the front seat. Fastenings are so arranged that the curtains are put in place without the necessity of anyone leaving the car.

When you come in to examine the new series Hupmobiles be sure to see the new curtains.

DENIES MOTHER WAS GERMAN SPY

Daughter of Mata-Hari Trying to Clear Her Name.

WAS KILLED BY FIRING SQUAD

Mata-Hari, the most notorious woman spy the world has ever known, is dead, shot six years ago by a firing squad of French Zouaves one dreary autumn dawn behind the walls of Vincennes prison.

The story of her capture, sensational trial and previous career of intrigue—a career with which kings, princes and prime ministers were linked, already has been told. The names of a French minister of war and the second highest minister in a French foreign ministry were mentioned, and it also was disclosed that Mata-Hari was the mistress of the German crown prince, who once took her with him to the military maneuvers in Silesia. One of her last loves was the Dutch premier, Van der Linden, who, after her conviction, made strenuous efforts to obtain a pardon for her from the French government.

Mata-Hari's story has been told; but now her daughter has come fresh from a Holland convent to attempt to clear her mother's name.

Seldom has a young girl made a more pathetic pilgrimage. She is in Paris searching the records, trying to establish her mother's innocence. The famous dancer, she asserts, died a martyr, willing to be known as a spy in order to shield her, the daughter, from a knowledge of her true manner of living.

Dancer's Diary.

Mata-Hari was not a spy, her daughter says, but was a courtesan. And, the daughter adds, she was accused falsely by a woman rival for the affections of a Frenchman high in the offices of the government.

"My mother was a far better woman than she was ever admitted to be," the girl says. "She was incapable of the infamies laid at her door. I have vowed on the cross, the symbol of my mother's faith, that I will not rest until I have cleared her name."

In the court-martial of the dancer it was charged that at one time she was in Spain conferring with a German agent. Actually, the girl maintains, she was in Holland, visiting her at a convent.

In startling contrast to the daughter's claims, however, is the dead dancer's diary, published after her execution. In this amazing document she told the story of her life and admitted having been an agent of the German secret service for many years. All Paris read the revelations with emotion, incited by the heart-gripping memories of those dark days in 1917 when Mata-Hari's arrest coincided with the failure of the offensive in Champagne and the temporary collapse of the hopes placed in the power of the tanks to sweep the German hordes from their trenches.

The daughter says she cannot believe her mother wrote the diary, and if she did, it was simply further to hide her real manner of living.

Became a Buddhist Dancer.

Mata-Hari was born in 1880 in Java, the daughter of a Dutch trader and a native woman. Her father died when she was a child and her mother fled with her to Burma and placed her in a Buddhist temple to save her from the fate of half-caste girls in the Orient. There, while a dancer of the temple, Captain McLeod of the British army, a baronet, saw her at a Buddhist festival and fell in love with her. She escaped from the temple, married the baronet and bore him three children. One of these was poisoned by her gardener at the behest of an ayah whom she had beaten in a fit of anger. Mata-Hari shot the gardener with a revolver. Then she took one of the remaining children, fled to Marseilles and thence to Holland, where she placed the little daughter in a convent.

Going to Paris, she went on the stage as a dancer. A German diplomat became infatuated with her, and her career of intrigue began, which finally ended with her arrest as a spy.

Mata-Hari was confident of acquittal to the end. On the day the court-martial's verdict was to be rendered, she made herself up as for the stage. She had never looked so stunning and she used all her seductive wiles to conquer the young officers upon whom her fate depended.

Proud in Shadow of Death.

When, after the clicking of heels and the clatter of arms in obedience to the sharp command, "present arms," the death sentence was read, she retained her proud composure, although her face turned ashen white.

"Ah, gentlemen, you are ungallant," was her sole comment, and then, "I have loved too well."

Mata-Hari was removed to the women's prison of St. Lazare. At first the dancing girl refused all the attentions of the nuns who direct the prison, but toward the end she became more gentle, and one of the last scenes of a tragic life was the gathering of the nuns in prayer around the abandoned charmer who had had many of the mighty in Europe at her feet.

The day before her death, Mata-Hari, for the first time, appeared melancholy and the kindly sisters remonstrated with her and urged her to dance so as to throw off her sadness. And Mata-Hari danced her last dance, her dance of death, in a prison cell to an audience of nuns.

Faces Firing Squad.

On the morning of her execution, at Vincennes prison, she was dressed in her loveliest gown, its brilliant colorings standing out in gay contrast to the somber sky and the still more somber prison walls. She was placed before a small mound and the firing squad came forward.

An officer dropped his sword arm; there was a rattle of musketry fire and she slowly crumpled to the ground. A red stain appeared on the bosom of the dress.

So died Mata-Hari, the spy.

And now—her daughter, alone against the world, is seeking to clear her name, to prove that, after all, she was not the woman she was supposed to be.

HAS RICH COPPER DISTRICT

Seven Devils District of Idaho Has Great Possibilities.

Possibility of development of the Seven Devils district of west central Idaho into one of the richest copper-bearing regions of the West is seen by Dr. F. S. Laney, geologist of the United States geological survey and head of the geology department of the University of Idaho.

Doctor Laney is incorporating in a publication soon to be issued the results of recent surveys conducted in the Seven Devils district by the geological survey and the Idaho state bureau of mines.

The region comprising the Seven Devils district is of the same formation as that which extends into Oregon, Doctor Laney believes. The Oregon field, with the assistance of railroad transportation, is being made to yield good returns, principally of copper ore, he said.

NO PROTECTION FROM FLEAS

British Parliament Refuses to Aid Performing Pests.

Performing fleas on the English stage—in fact, all fleas whose lives are consecrated to the drama—must go through their acts without the possibility of protection in the case of maltreatment.

This slight to fleas is contained in an antiflea clause of the government's new performing animals bill which has passed the committee stage in the house of commons.

When the question was debated, it was decided reptiles and fish should be included, but fleas must fight their battles alone. An amendment was carried to this effect.

The real reason for the discrimination was that of the difficulty of using the flea as evidence.

OLD BILL WILL BE PAID

Savings Left Twelve Years Ago Will Go to Landlady.

A board bill 12 years old will be collected by Mrs. D. R. Holmes of Coeur d'Alene, as the result of a recent ruling in the Superior court at Spokane, Wash. Over a decade ago, Joe Asm, a boarder, left owing Mrs. Holmes a bill of $100, but presented her with a bank book showing $344 deposited in a local bank. She said he told her that if he failed to return it was hers.

The court ruled that Mrs. Holmes must advertise for the owner before the money could be paid her and held that she can collect only the amount due. In case no trace of Asm or his relatives is found, the state will ask for any balance that may be left, after the property is administered.

CLUB PLANTS WILD RICE

Montana Gun Organization Acts to Attract Ducks.

Some 1,200 pounds of wild rice is to be planted in reservoirs and lakes in the vicinity of Polson, Mont., for the feeding and attraction of ducks. The Polson Rod and Gun club, with the assistance of the state fish and game commission, is back of the move.

Some wild rice was planted in several places in the vicinity last year as an experiment. It grew well where the seed was not washed out by unusually high water. The first shipment of 850 pounds, costing the club $300, is being soaked preparatory to planting, under the direction of F. L. Vance of Deer Lake, Minn., who has had many years' experience in rice cultivation.

DR. BOERKER AT HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y Club held a regular meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night. After every one had done away with their share of the food, Mr. Miller read a portion of Luke, 19, and also gave a prayer. Seymour Goldberg of the athletic committee, stated that there would be four basketball teams and two indoor baseball teams and possibly swimming teams.

Mr Perry said that the Hi-Y would entertain the faculty of the high school during the week of November 21st, and that Dr. Hormer, formerly dean of the State College at Albany, will probably be the speaker at this meeting He also said that the football banquet will be held December 17th and that Mr. Hall is endeavoring to get Tom Thorpe to speak at the banquet If he is unable to come Elmer Olephant, of Union College, will probably be the speaker.

Dr Boerker, member of the high school faculty, spoke to the boys about the west and about the about the life and duties of a forest ranger Dr Boerker first gave a description of the west from the Mississippi to the Pacific When travelling across this great expanse we first cross the prairies, which are nearly as flat as a pancake and extend many miles in all directions Then we come to some dreary desert land and after that the majestic Rockies When Dr. Boerker passed through the Rockies and the Sierras, the snow was very deep, being banked about 14 feet high on each side of the railroad track After passing the Sierras the next section is the Columbia River Valley On one side there is a desert and when the train passes through this the dust gets into the coaches and the people in the coaches are very nearly suffocated

After giving this description, Dr Boerker told of the duties and hardships that the forester encounters in the work out west He told many interesting stories about his own experiences when he was a forester On one occasion he and his partner were supposed to change the paper on the automatic wind gauges and thermometers which were placed at the timber line on Pike's Peak 12,500 feet about sea level

They took turns going up every five days. One day when it was Dr Boerker's turn to take the reading and change the paper a gale was blowing and there was three feet of snow on the ground He started up the mountain on snowshoes in the face of a 48-mile gale. When he reached the cabin at the timber line he said that he would not have given five cents for his chance of returning safely When he was removing one of the record sheets from an instrument it blew away He was very angry because the losing of this one sheet would spoil the whole year's record He decided to look for it and after walking about 100 yards he found the sheet wound half way around a sapling where the force of the wind had placed it He recovered the sheet and eventually returned to the cabin at the base of the peak That is an example of the hardships that a forester meets

Dr Boerker said that the hospitality of the western people was amazing and that they would give a person a place to sleep and as much food as they wanted any time He said that the people are broad minded and can readily see another person's viewpoint In conclusion Dr Boerker said that he would answer any questions that might be asked about forestry Dr Boerker also showed some very interesting pictures of the country which he took when he was a forester

The meeting then adjourned

Pin Stripes Feature an Interesting Frock

This winsome frock for business wear is sure to appeal to women. The model was recently displayed at a New York fashion exposition.

Flowers as Decorative Feature and Joy-Giver

The joy that flowers can give in the house has never been appreciated quite so thoroughly as it is now The homes are few, indeed, where flowers do not appear fresh and lovely at such frequent intervals that they seem always present.

No longer is the vase of flowers confined to a formal bouquet for the living-room and a few blossoms for the dining-room table Hall, porch, sun parlor, breakfast-room and kitchen each has its place for flowers, which vie with those in the other rooms Of course flowers are seldom found in every room in the house at one and the same time, but they appear now and then in different rooms as an inspiration to those who remain at home during the day and as a happy note of greeting to the tired homecomer at the close of the day.

Along with this growing feeling for flowers as a decorative feature and joy-giver, it has been discovered that the beauty of even the loveliest blossoms is greatly enhanced by selecting appropriate receptacles and by the proper arrangement and combination of the flowers that are used.

The worst sin one can commit in flower display is to crowd the blossoms tightly into some unsuitable container. An overcrowded vase is as unlovely as an over dressed woman. It is best to err on the opposite side, if such a thing is possible.

The clever use of a single flower or of a few sprays goes a long way to make up for a scarcity of flowers, which flat and apartment-house dwellers suffer from, unless fresh ones are bought constantly.

Interesting Features of Accepted Fashions

Salient points of the mode can now be summed up with a certain degree of assurance that the clothes we buy now will be in style for at least six months—and what more can one desire?

There is, for instance, the question of skirts These for day and street wear are fairly tight and therefore of necessity somewhat short. Evening frocks, if of the period type with wide, full skirts, are angle length If slim and straight they are not quite so long.

The long sleeve for day frocks is almost the rule, and while in many instances it is tight there seems to be a rapidly increasing tendency to feature the bell sleeve with an undersleeve of lingerie, lace or silk.

Blouses are loose, with a rather casual line, which ends somewhere from a few inches below the waistline to a point about at the knees.

The wide expanse of neck that has been such a dominant feature of the modes of the summer season has disappeared Many women who go in for the most extreme styles have taken to high collars but the general choice inclines toward the Chinese neck, with its straight, upstanding collar. It is extremely smart, but not always becoming.

The new three-quarter length coats have been enthusiastically received.

Printed and Plain Gowns.

Printed and plain materials combine to make some of the smartest of the new frocks—a mode not only becoming but economical as well, because it lends itself to the use of remnants or the remaking of an old dress. In one instance, the foundation is a straight-line model so simple that it needs practically no making to which are added applied front and back panels and a cape back that may be left off if one doesn't care for it—though cape-backs are good this year, and for the figure that curves against the mode's decree, such an artifice is well designed. The rolled girdle, too, is used, but one may substitute a narrow belt if one prefers.

In Danger Zone.

William Harvey, the great English physician who in 1651 demonstrated the circulation of the blood in the body, was fond of the classics and is recorded to have been found in the danger zone of a battle reading Virgil.

New Starch Discovery Preserves Your Dainty Garments

FREQUENT washing is the hardest thing in the world on clothes. Perhaps the chief reason clothes soil so readily is that they are not protected by starch, or else the proper kind of starch has not been used.

Thousands of housewives, now starching with Linit, are giving their fabrics protection from wear and tear.

This remarkable starch is made by an improved process that keeps it fluid after it cools. You are never troubled with clotting, smearing or "blistering." Linit penetrates the fabric, helps prevent wear, and strengthens the material.

Linit gives ordinary cotton goods an attractive linen finish and your Linit-starched garments remain clean and fresh much longer.

Important to you

AFTER Linit is thoroughly dissolved, according to directions and ready for use, you will notice it is THIN and FREE-RUNNING LIKE WATER—with a "milky" appearance. Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and, unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff and jelly-like. This is one reason why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches and is easier to iron with.

Linit costs 10c at all grocers—Get a package and begin the modern way of starching your fabrics Perfection in starching guaranteed or your money refunded.

FAMOUS AAGGIE HAS A WORTHY NAMESAKE

Livingston County Farmer Boasts Another Cow Making Notable Record.

Aaggie, the famous Livingston county grade Holstein who for many months has led all the cows in the dairy improvement associations of the state in butter fat, was still keeping her honor place in July.

The July reports of the various associations of the state have been summarized at the college of agriculture at Ithaca. Aaggie, who is owned by S. W. Barber of Scottsburg, made 126.8 pounds of butterfat, while Aaggie II, Aaggie's daughter, a chip off the old block, also owned by Mr. Barber, came next with 98.2 pounds.

Ollie Roxie Korndyke, an Orange county Holstein-Friesian, owned by the Laurel Stock Farm, Goshen, came close to second place with 97.1 pounds, while Lady Bountiful, a 12-year-old grade Jersey another Livingston county cow owned by G. E. Purcell of Hemlock came fourth with 94.6 pound Livingston county likewise carried off fifth place with Pocahontas, a grade Holstein seven-year-old owned by another Hemlock man, J. M. Huff Her figure was 91.2 pounds.

When it came to milk production, the old reliable five-year-old Aaggie took the lead with 3335.6 pounds, while the Orange county cow came in second with 3038 pounds. Pocahontas produced 2278 pounds and won third place, while Lady Bountiful, with 1333 pounds, had to yield the fourth place to Mr. Barber's two-year-old Aaggie II, who made 2046 pounds.

Weasel in Bird's Nest.

A resident in Ayrshire recently found a robin's nest on a bank of a road. Visiting the place a day or two later he found two boys standing near the nest One was in tears, and said that, when he put his hand in the nest he was bitten by a weasel, which evidently had taken possession The injured boy was sent home to be medically attended, as a weasel bite is apt to be poisonous.

DIST. GOVERNOR VISITS ROTARY

Where He Delivers Address—Club Passes Resolution of Regret at Departure of Professor Lewis.

A stirring address on Rotarianism by Raymond J. Knoeppel, district governor of the 29th district; pledging the support of the club to the Boy Scout movement; bidding farewell to Charles W. Lewis; and the introduction of a new song and new song books by Harry P. Dodge, were some of the features of the weekly meeting of the Kingston Rotary Club at the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday at noon.

Mr. Dodge during the serving of the dinner called attention to a white slip of paper on which was printed the words of the new song "Be-Be Be Mine," which was heartily sung under his leadership. The new song book was then inspected and John Gregory was interested in knowing if his song "The Gol Darned Spider" was incorporated in the contents, but not finding it at first sang it from memory.

President J. T. Johnson before introducing the principal speaker Mr. Knoeppel, who arrived late, called upon Samuel Scudder and Dr. O'Meara for reports on boys' work and crippled children, which were briefly given. The Kingston Rotary Club is planning to have the boys it is helping meet at the Y. M. C. A., every Thursday during the winter at which time they will have the use of the gymnasium and the swimming pool. Illustrated lectures will also be given during the winter for the boys, the lectures and slides being furnished by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A.

President Johnson announced that the resignation of Rotarian Charles W. Lewis, principal of Kingston high school, had been received and the following resolution of regret introduced by E. E. Fessenden was unanimously adopted:

Rotary always rejoices in the success and advancement of her members, and so, our own club is gratified with the preferment which has come to Rotarian Charles W. Lewis, by which he is enabled to carry out some of his long cherished plans. While we shall not only miss his able and generous assistance in club activities, we also feel a personal loss is to be ours in the severance of that close companionship with him, which we have so highly prized.

A good citizen, educator, friend and companion, the termination of his active relations with this club means a distinctive loss to us. Therefore, it is

Resolved, That Kingston Rotary congratulates Rotarian Lewis; wishes him and his family the best of success and happiness in his new field of labor; and expresses its sincere regret that the close intimacy and delightful companionship which have always existed between him and the members of this club, must so soon be severed, assuring him, however, that a warm welcome always awaits him here.

Mr. Lewis, called upon to speak, said that he thanked his fellow Rotarians for their kind appreciation as shown in the adoption of the resolution, and said he would ever have a warm spot in his heart for Kingston. He said that he was leaving for Englewood, N. J., that afternoon at 4 o'clock and would take up his duties in Englewood on Thursday morning.

District Governor Knoeppel, whose district includes the eastern part of New York state as far north as Ballston Spa and west to Amsterdam, was given a rousing reception as he arose to speak. He said that strange to say he was not only a resident of New York, but one of the few who claimed that city as his birthplace. When a boy the first trip he made outside of New York was to Kingston. His father would take him on Saturday for a sail up the Hudson river on the old Mary Powell to Kingston where they would spend Sunday returning to New York on the Powell on Monday.

What he liked about the Kingston Rotary Club was the spirit of "pep" it displayed and which it had shown since its organization. He then launched into his address taking as his topic "Why Are Things Thus?" We arise every morning and eat our breakfast and go to work, and at noon we have our lunch, and then return to work. Day after day we do the same things with but little variation. Why are things thus? Think of the progress which has been made in material things. We have our electrically lighted and asphalted streets, our automobiles, our elevated, subway and trolley roads. Indoors we have heated apartments and other modern appliances for our comfort. For all that we are still thinking in the same terms as men of past generations.

What is it that changes everything else except the static condition of man's mind. We are Republican because our father was a member of that political party. We attend a certain church because our parents were members. We allow all sorts of discriminate and indiscriminate passions to sway our minds. Why is it thus? Is it because we are satisfied with things that have been handed down to us through preceding generations?

What we need today is tolerance and the desire to understand the other man's ideas. The greatest thing that attracts me to Rotary is its elusiveness; its lack of ritualism. Rotary was the natural result of man's craving over the centuries. There are certain fundamentals in Rotary that we all agree upon. We believe in the classification of its members where men of all lines of business endeavor may get together and where we can hear the other man's business problems discussed.

Another fundamental is attendance. I have no use for attendance records or attendance contests, but as the International Rotary does believe in it I am for it, for I believe that the will of the majority should rule. From my personal point of view, however, I believe that a Rotarian should want to attend the meetings with the idea of meeting his friends.

Rotary is not a system; it is a spirit. There are two classes of people in the world the individualists and the altruists. Between them is a compromise which is exemplified by the Rotary spirit. The Rotarian motto "He Profits Most Who Serves Best" means something. It has lifted the word "service" above a common level and placed it on a higher plane of meaning.

In closing he said that as Rotarians we should not forget that we are militant crusaders against intolerance in religious thought and in business; we believe in crushing out the spirit of laziness for we realize that industrial production must not be slowed down; and we believe in crushing our selfishness from our lives.

Before the close of the meeting the club unanimously adopted a resolution that the club stand behind the Boy Scout movement.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph of Tannersville spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Kathryn Joseph.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Wager and daughter of Lakehurst, N. J., are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Ten Hagen.

Mrs. Markle and children of Boston, Mass., who have been spending a short time at the home of her mother, Mrs. Flanagan, returned to Boston on Saturday of the past week.

Mrs. C. Depuy's sister of Kingston has been visiting at her home. They walked up to High Falls cemetery on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. James H. Coalson's music class is progressing and she has quite a few new pupils.

Miss Lauretta Ostrander, who has been staying with her aunt, Mrs. Hotchkiss, for some time has returned to Kingston. Mrs. Thompson, who was there some time ago, but was called away on account of the illness of a relative, has returned.

A number from this place went into Kingston to the dollar day sale, held at the Van Wagenen store the past Friday and Saturday.

There was a heavy rainfall on Tuesday and Wednesday of the past week which was very acceptable, as the country was very dry. Many of the wells and cisterns were empty, causing great inconvenience and the carrying of water from long distances.

John Ayers visited town on Saturday.

Mrs. Katheryn Joseph has had heat put in her house. She has also had a telephone installed. Her home was newly painted the past spring and with the modern improvements and the grounds well kept, it makes a pretty as well as a modern country cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes of Poughkeepsie spent the past week end at their home.

There was no prayer service the past Wednesday evening, on account of the severe rain storm.

Mr. Bloomer of Riveredge, N. J., was in the place on Thursday past.

Mrs. Joette Snyder of New Paltz who came out to attend the funeral service of Mrs. John B. Snyder, spent a few days with relatives here.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. D. Kortright.

On Sunday morning, November 4, a lady missionary from Syria will give an address in the Reformed Church at 10:30. Her husband, who will have charge of the service at Stone Ridge in the morning, will be present in the evening and will give an address illustrated by stereopticon views. The evening lecture will be given in the chapel of the Reformed Church. All are cordially invited to attend both morning and evening services.

Miss Carrie Slater is at Garden City, Long Island, instead of Briarcliff, as before stated in this paper.

Mr. Brooks of Alligerville passed through this place on Tuesday.

Mrs. James Coalson called at Locust Hurst Cottage on Monday.

Ernest Van Demark visited town on Monday.

Mrs. Thompson of Kingston has been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. Depuy. She returned to the city on Monday and her sister went in with her for a few days' visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawksley and children of Kingston motored out on Monday and passed through this place en route to the High Falls cemetery. They stopped for a few minutes at Locust Hurst Cottage.

The funeral service of Mrs. John B. Snyder was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Davis on Saturday afternoon past, at 1 o'clock. Interment Rosendale Plains. The Rev. Herman Hageman of Clavcrack had charge of the service. The Rev. Agnew was also present and led in prayer. There was a large number present at the funeral, many relatives and friends coming from out of town. Mrs. Snyder had a large circle of friends for she was loved by all who knew her. She possessed a very lovely Christian character which shone forth both in the home life and that of the church and community. She was an active church worker as long as her health would permit, being a member of the Sunday school, the Y. P. C. E., the Ladies' Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid. The Rev. Herman Hageman, her past pastor, in his sermon, paid a loving tribute to her memory. During his pastorate she united with the church, and ten years ago this fall she was married by him. Her loss as a wife, mother, daughter and friend to all, will be greatly felt. The greatest heartfelt sympathy is extended by all to her many friends and relatives.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Nov. 1.—The Reformed Church—The Rev. J. F. Nicholas will preach at 11 a. m. on "Man in the Light of the Stars;" at 7:30 on "Christ Precious to Believers." Preaching at Zena at 2:30. Y. P. S. C. E. at 7; leader, flower committee; subject, "Lesson from the Psalms—The Church Psalm 84." Sunday school at 10 a. m. A hearty welcome to all.

SCOUT CAMPAIGN SIGN ERECTED

Team Captains Meet Monday Night Van Wagenen Endorses Scouting —History of Phoenicia Troop.

The Boy Scout campaign's executive committee met Wednesday evening at the office of Ward B. Everett, Elva H. Bogart, chairman; John D. Schoonmaker, vice-chairman; Ward B. Everett, treasurer; A. J. Burns, chairman workers committee; Ed. Lester, chairman publicity committee; Frank Flanagan, representing Ralph Cohen, chairman audit committee; Scout Executive Nessinge and Campaign Manager Gordon being present. The meeting selected a list of names and alternates to be interviewed for chairman of committees. These team captains are to come together at 8 o'clock next Monday evening for general instructions in connection with the campaign and to check up on their team members.

The new campaign sign was erected Thursday at the corner of Hoffman street and Broadway and when viewed in the open proved an even greater masterpiece of sign painting than was anticipated while in the shop. On a background showing a beautiful mountain and lake scene is superimposed two Scouts the sending end of a signalling troop, the right arm of the taller scout is movable and at the present time is signalling "L." On a tree trunk is a scale to which the signal flag points with vacant spaces to insert the accumulated total of the campaign as it progresses toward completion. When the Scout's hands are above his head each at an angle of 45 degrees he will be signalling "U" (You). When the Scout signals "You" the campaign will be over.

The following endorsement has been received from Assemblyman Simon B. Van Wagenen:

"I have noted with great interest and satisfaction the building up of the Boy Scout organization in Ulster county on what seems to me to be a sound basis and I hope that your forthcoming campaign will meet with the success it deserves.

"Scouting is a fine thing. It makes better boys and better boys will make better men, the greatest need of our country. Scouting develops sound bodies, sound morals, ability to meet emergencies, quick and clear thinking and love of liberty, a spirit of fearless independence that is peculiarly American. It will bring us back to the good old American life that sometimes seems to be slipping away from us."

"I will consider it a privilege to contribute what financial support is within my ability toward your fund as I have in the past."

The following troop history has been received from Troop No. 2, Phoenicia; organized April, 1923. Officers: Scoutmaster, Charles G. Hoerner, Jr.; assistant scoutmaster, Paul Miller and Carcol Simpson; scribe, Joseph Gordon; treasurer, Augustus Simpson; troop committee, Ralph Longyear, Lester Bell and Alfred Hummel.

We hold meetings every Thursday night and the village school house or outdoors around the council fire in the near-by-woods. We started with eight enrollments and now number seventeen. About 50 per cent of the boys earn their own living. The picture was taken in the woodland Barbecue Ulster Council at which our troop captured a bronze placque for the best camp fire stunt. As a troop, good turn, Troop 2, came to the fore during July when the Phoenicia bridge was demolished by directing and controlling the heavy summer traffic over an emergency one way detour. A corking good hunting knife and sheath has been offered as a prize by Assistant Scoutmaster Miller to the first boy who becomes a second class scout and the boys are running neck and neck down the home stretch. The troop is divided into two patrols known as the Wildcat and Eagle patrols and are led by Patrol Leaders Simpson and Kinsey with Bennett and Nelce as assistants.

What Feeds Sponges?

Fisheries experts and scientists have been unable to ascertain accurately how sponges feed. An ordinary sponge will grow from one to one and one-half inches or more a year. The portion of the sponge with which we are familiar is the skeleton or framework of the sea product as it exists in the briny deep. The slimy, gelatinous substance is decomposed by wind, weather and sunshine and subsequent soaking in sea water cures out any gelatinous materials which still adhere to the sponges.

FETE OF ALL SAINTS DAY OF OBLIGATION

Today is All Saints' day, one of the most important of the feast days on the Catholic Church calendar. It is a holy day of obligation and in all the Catholic Churches there were special Masses. All Saints' day is a fixed feast and falls on November 1 unless that day is Sunday, when it is observed November 3. It was instituted in honor of the saints, known and unknown, and according to Pope Urban IV was to supply any deficiencies in the faithful's celebration of saints' feasts during the year. All Saints' day is preceded by fasting and vigil. Friday will be All Souls' day, and although not a holy day, is one of great solemnity and a commemoration of all the faithful departed. On this day special requiem Masses are said and the office of the dead recited by the clergy.

M. Joseph Caillaux

Former Premier Joseph Caillaux, exiled from Paris and other sections of France for his alleged trafficking with the enemy in the World War, has re-entered French politics in dramatic fashion. Addressing 400 of his followers at a banquet in Denain, one of the few towns he can enter, he planned a definite program for the Left Wing of the Chamber of Deputies, when the latter shall oppose Premier Poincare at the coming elections. France, he said, was entitled to reparations and security from Germany, but that under the Poincare plan she would get neither.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Night Gown.

4461. This is a very attractive model, that lends itself well to a development in batiste, voile, crepe, crepe de chine, silk or satin. The yoke could be of lace or embroidery. Hemstitching of drawnwork would be attractive for decoration on plain material.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 3⅝ yards of 36 inch material. For yoke and sleeves of contrasting material, ½ yard 36 inches is required.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

MISS ROBERTS DID NOT SNEER AT THOSE WATER FRONT FOLKS

And Expresses Sorrow Over Remarks That Were Damaging.

October 31, 1923.

Editor, The Freeman:

My attention is called to the heading of your report of the recent Harding Club meeting, "A sneer for Esopus Water Front Voters." I never sneer consciously at anything and have no comprehension of the mental attitude necessary for calling unpleasant names. To state that the quality of the people living along the water front would tend to make them favorable to Mr. Van Wagenen's candidacy as against Mr. Weaver was not intended to sneer at them though I do agree it was damaging to them and I am sorry.

The Freeman reporter who asked for my address to the Harding Club, got it on his promise to publish the whole without change, if he published it at all. I hope that under the circumstances you will find that you can yet print the missing part. I want the county committee to read it.

I also hope that you will give this a conspicuous place in your interesting journal which is interesting because it is so highly candid and unafraid, but I do not understand why, when you practice such candor concerning residents of the county, you should feel that an educator, a former principal of the high school who seems to be a brave and clear sighted man, merits a rebuke. We can often learn something from a newcomer and to say what your correspondent does about Mr. Lewis tends to discourage any new ideas from any but brave men.

I think the rule that you had, that communications must be signed is a good one and I am wondering who contributed this "rebuke."

I, too, like the First Dutch Church in Kingston but it did not express to me, in its outlines the intolerance and narrowness the writer of the "rebuke" finds there.

I believe there are fewer mental defectives in Ulster county than the editor imagines and that citizens can safely be left to interpret facts for themselves.

DRAWING SHIP SEARCH TREATY

It Will Not Specify Any Limit Off Shore—British Ships May Bring in Liquor Under Seal.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 1.—The foreign office is engaged today in drawing up an Anglo-American treaty which will give the United States the right to search suspected liquor smuggling ships flying the British flag beyond the three mile territorial limit of American waters. The treaty will be along elastic lines.

Both the foreign office and the American embassy stated that no mention will be made in the treaty of 12-mile limit. Secretary of State Hughes at Washington originally proposed that the American territorial limit be extended from 3 to 12 miles but England refused to consent to any specific zone. A counter proposal was made that the United States be granted permission to search suspected ships "beyond the three mile limit." Washington agreed to this suggestion. In return the United States granted permission to legitimate British ships to carry liquor under seal into American ports.

It is understood the treaty will impose no restrictions upon American freedom of search although there is a tacit understanding that the American authorities will use discretion so as not to embarrass British shipping

Great Britain pointed out that recognition of a specific 12-mile limit would lead to controversies with Russia and other nations which would endanger British rights. Russia has been contending for extension of her own three mile limit so as to expand the Russian fishing industry.

The United States specifically affirms the principle of the three mile limit (under international law and usage) in deference to Great Britain's views.

American embassy attaches said the treaty meets the viewpoint and desires of Washington despite the fact that it does not designate 12 miles as the limit of the American territorial waters.

WHY LEGION POSTS PROGRESS

Working Hand in Hand With Respective Communities Results in Membership Increase.

Progress of the posts of the American Legion is founded on the relations with the community in which they are located, according to findings of the national officers of the organization from a survey of posts showing regular membership increase.

This survey was made in 22 states, principally those of agricultural regions, and represented reports from 640 posts in towns with an average population of 11,193 persons. Each of these posts has shown membership increase over that of the preceding year. Membership growth of these posts has not been sporadic. It has been steady and sure. Of the 306 posts formed in 1919, an average of 36 members was shown. In 1920 this average for 357 posts had dropped to 28. The next year 394 posts added one more to the average. In 1922, the average for 600 posts jumped to 58 and thus far the 640 posts show an average of 62 members.

Reasons assigned for this growth are primarily due to interest in civic affairs. A majority of post officers say that membership has grown because "they have sold the Legion to the community!" Such posts have encountered little opposition in their five-year progress in Legion activity.

Actual accomplishments of the Legion show a multiplicity of movements, and a keen observance by the veterans of the needs of the communities. The questionnaires show that posts have built tourist parks and camping grounds; they have caused city parks to be opened; some build and maintain baseball parks and clubs; others build community bathing pools; a large number of posts have caused playgrounds to be opened; many have erected public memorials; a few provide free band concerts by Legion musical organizations; some plant trees as a part of a conservation program and for memorial purposes; others maintain burial plots for deceased ex-service men; most Legion posts make efforts to obtain employment for former service men; they direct boy scout movements and sponsor troops; they participate in Americanization of aliens, and afford instruction in citizenship for boys and girls; and the majority perform service work for disabled men, through the posts and in the hospitals. Other activities assigned as the regular lot of Legion organizations include the legislative accomplishments for the veterans, service work for the disabled in compensation, participation in local fetes, pageants, athletics, and other movements developing community interest.

LEGION HAS GREAT GROWTH

Posts of Veterans' Organization in Seventeen Foreign Countries; New York Leads in U. S.

The sun never sets upon the American Legion. Veterans of the World war, scattered to the four corners of the world, have joined other comrades in forming posts of the veterans' association. The annual report of the Legion's national treasurer shows that the Legion has chartered posts in seventeen foreign countries and in five territorial possessions of the United States, in addition to the 48 states and District of Columbia.

The Mexico department leads all foreign countries in membership. Posts have been established in the following nations: Argentine, Brazil, British Isles, Canada, Chile, China, Cuba, France, Germany, Guatemala, India, Japan, Korea, Mexico, New Zealand, Poland and Turkey as well as in the territorial possessions of Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Philippine islands and Porto Rico.

New York is the largest home department of the Legion. Its 57,417 members gives that state a representation of 63 delegates to the national convention, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Iowa and Ohio following in relative order.

SANITARIUM TO BE ENLARGED

Legion Auxiliary of South Dakota Is Breaking Ground for Soldiers' Wing to Institution.

In the heart of the Black hills, where the air is stimulating and pure, the American Legion auxiliary of South Dakota is breaking ground for the erection of a soldiers' wing to the sanitarium for tuberculosis at Sanator.

Here the men who contracted the dreaded white plague in the service will have an opportunity to fight their way back to health with the advantages of the best climate and sanitarium facilities in the state.

The addition will cost $50,000. The sanitarium is located in a natural park of 150 acres entirely surrounded by forests of Black hills yellow pine. The auxiliary expects to complete the structure next spring and next summer will see 48 veterans in the ward.

Speed of Gulf Stream.

Three miles an hour is about the average speed of the gulf stream. At certain places, however, it attains a speed of 51 miles an hour, the rapidity of the current giving the surface, when the sun is shining, the appearance of a sheet of fire.

KASS GOT 85 NEW MEMBERS

Detroit Legion Worker Won Trip to National Convention for His Rapid-Fire Hustling.

John Kass, a member of the Charles A. Learned post of the American Legion in Detroit, made the Legion national hall of fame recently when he enrolled 85 new members for his post. As a prize for winning the contest he received a trip to the Legion national convention in San Francisco with all transportation expenses paid by the post.

The most formidable rival Kass developed in the contest which lasted about two and one-half months was "Pete" Kolbe who obtained 65 members. Both of the contestants worked hard during the last four days of the race. Kolbe obtained 13 new members, but this record was beaten by Kass who speeded up the home stretch and recruited 36 Legionnaires, or nine a day during that period.

The two successful membership

John Kass.

"getters" obtained some valuable information during the contest. One of the surprising bits of information was that the reason why many veterans have not joined the Legion is because they have never been asked to enter the organization Legion officials cite this fact as a demonstration of the necessity for a more active canvass of former service men.

Both Kass and Kolbe signed up scores of veterans for the Legion in previous membership contests.

MAY ADMIT FORMER ENEMIES

Owsley Favors Permitting Germans, Austrians and Russians to Enter Veterans' Federation.

Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, created a sensation in veterans' circles when he asked allied veterans to dismiss passion and hatred from their hearts and plan to admit German, Austrian and Russian World war fighters into the Interallied Veterans' Federation.

"Surely there must be some way in which we can speak to the men we fought and make them realize there is a better way of living among nations than continuing battling one another," Commander Owsley declared at the recent convention of the federation in Brussels. "How can we wish to deal with our former enemies if we haven't the moral courage to get together in pence? Maybe there has been no change of heart among our former enemies. Perhaps there never will be unless we are men enough to undertake to carry to them our peace message. France and Belgium positively are entitled to reparations, but hoarding and keeping in our heart ancient prejudices will not bring the peace we earned by our victory."

Charles Bertrand, president of the federation, representing the views of France and Belgium, indicated that he would favor admittance of the men from the enemy countries as soon as they evinced a desire to pay reparations.

AUXILIARY IS TO HAVE HOME

Alma (Kan.) Organization, With Only Twenty-five Members in Small Town, Sets Example.

A memorial home, for use by all townspeople is the objective of a unit of the American Legion Auxiliary in Alma, Kan. The building, which the women workers of the organization propose to erect, will contain an auditorium, a gymnasium, and a service kitchen. On the second floor, quarters for the Legion and for the Auxiliary will be established. While the erection of such a home is not unusual in auxiliary circles, it is an extraordinary undertaking in the case of this unit, which has a membership of 25, in a town of only 780 inhabitants. The women own a site for the proposed home purchased at a cost of $900, and plan early erection of the community memorial.

A La Carte.

We had quarreled at our dinner,
Though I ordered quite a spread.
"It's the woman does the paying,"
She snapped, "when all is said."
Then I tossed the check right at her
And I left her in a daze
"Have your way," I sadly snorted,
"Here's one time the woman pays."
—American Legion Weekly.

Massed Bands at Convention.

Massed bands from eight Ohio cities furnished music at a special concert at the annual convention of the American Legion held in Springfield. More than 350 musicians participated.

SMALL TOWNS NEED HOSPITALS

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Albany, Nov 1—There is urgent need for hospitals in small communities throughout the state, according to Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., state commissioner of health.

More hospitals would be the means of saving hundreds of lives each year throughout the state, in the opinion of authorities in the state health department.

Many instances have been reported to the health department where persons, living in remote rural communities have died before they could be taken to a hospital in some distant city. Doctors have asserted in many cases lives could have been saved had there been a hospital nearby where the patient could have been rushed for an operation.

The northern part of the state is in particular need of more hospitals. In the winter, with the roads at times impassable because of huge snowdrifts, sick persons many times have to do without the convenience of a hospital but also the services of a physician.

Plans are now being formulated by the state health authorities which, it is hoped, eventually will lead to the establishment of hospitals in small communities Governor Smith has declared he favors having the state aid the communities in the erection of these hospitals.

Dr. Nicoll declared today that if all villages in the state were like Warsaw, a place of less than 4,000 population, where $60,000 has been raised for a community hospital, the people of the state would be amply cared for so far as hospitals are concerned.

The state health department can see no reason why every small village in the state cannot raise sufficient funds for the erection of some kind of a small hospital The department believes the time is coming when every village with a population of 2,500 will have a hospital.

Hospitals in small places also would attract young doctors to open offices in small places This angle is considered important because of the scarcity of country doctors.

PUL-VO-DRIP

Barrington Hall Coffee

Pul-Vo-Drip is so cut that boiling water draws out its full strength instantly, which not only preserves its fine flavor, but insures a yield of 60 cups to every pound, as compared with 40 cups from ordinary coffee.

DIRECTIONS

To prepare Pul-Vo-Drip in an ordinary coffee pot, simply add boiling water, allow it to stand two or three minutes, then pour or strain into another vessel (preferably china). In a percolator, allow half the usual time. Quick infusion is the secret.

We have designed a coffee pot that does it all in one operation. For information and free offer, ask your grocer or write to

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

THAT DEMON FLU.

The winter is at hand and that demon flu may march through our midst again, leaving the victim whose life he spares, weak worn and devoid of all desire for work or play

The trouble is that he comes sneaking along, and you think you have just been working too hard, perhaps playing too hard, not enough sleep, and that with the cold you've contracted you have really nothing serious, so you fail to recognize flu until you are down. There is the usual cold and headache, to which is added a severe backache and a feeling as if your whole body had been beaten by a club.

You are hardly sick enough to go to bed, and yet not in shape to do a day's work You stay on your feet, and then the damage is done. And such damage.

Why, when an ordinary cold takes you there is some sneezing, headache, restlessness, temperature, but you always feel that you'll soon be right again.

But with the flu?

Why it just seems to pick you up as a terrier does a rat and shake and shake you, until, when you are put down you are nothing but a beaten piece of flesh and bones

Why are its effects so terrific?

Because while it effects the entire system it would seem to make a particularly furious attack upon two very vital centres—the heart and the nervous system

And so in watching flu your physician keeps his eye ever on your heart. It is his chief thought throughout, and if it pounds along regularly, not too rapidly, and with good force behind it, he is free from worry He guards the heart irrespective of all other considerations.

And the nervous system gets a shock that perhaps nothing else ever gives it

The prostration is complete.

And the lesson?

Remember that these two vital centres have received almost a knock out blow Don't worry about it then if you seem to be slow in getting back to your old self.

Don't give up your business or exercise, but come back to them gradually as your strength of body returns.

AN OUTSIDER SAYS PROF. LEWIS WAS RIGHT.

Editor, The Freeman:

It was to be expected that the remarks of Prof. C. W Lewis at the gathering in the First Dutch Church should draw fire of The Freeman. (Oh, no, by the way, it was said to have been contributed.) Well, I had been led to believe that in order to get an article of that character printed it was necessary to attach one's signature, though I have noticed some exceptions to the rule recently.

That Professor Lewis spoke the truth no one who is familiar at all with conditions doubts. Indeed, the very fact that someone hastens to recite the wonderful contributions to charity and all other worthy causes in an attempt to becloud the issue makes the truth all the more apparent

Kingston IS known as a decidedly wet city The Freeman itself has intimated many times that the Eighteenth Amendment is not obeyed. (Not that there has been any strenuous attempt on the part of the officials to have it obeyed or enforced.)

It is very refreshing, indeed, to find a man in Mr Lewis's position who has the moral courage to tell the truth regarding conditions in Kingston. I have two children in high school and I regret that the school is to lose a man of his character and high ideals I say this not doubting the worthiness or ability of his successor but with the thought that the more of such men in the community the better.

I presume that the letter in Monday's Freeman is intended to serve notice to his successor that no such nonsense as a free expression of opinion will be expected from him unless it is in commendation of the conditions he finds in Kingston. He could easily train himself to do that by shutting his eyes to the things that are not right and likewise his ears and then if he does really become aware of conditions that hamper him in making the best kind of citizens of the boys and girls that he is attempting to train he can easily forget it by reciting the many good things that the people of Kingston have done "for charity shall cover the multitude of sins."

Now, Mr. Editor, let me hasten to say that I know there are many good things to be said about Kingston and about the people who live there and if I were to live in a city I do not know of a small city that would suit me better. I don't believe very many of the people in Kingston want to see lawlessness go unpunished but there are some that do, and that some, though they be in the minority, have so far been able to control the situation, and I fail to find any reason for a rebuke in the remarks of Mr. Lewis.

COLOR IN HOMES

Too Much White in Rooms Causes Nervousness.

Writer Tells of Experiment He Made in Friend's Home and the Result.

Are homes too "white"? I ask the question, and give the reply—a most emphatic "Yes!" says a writer.

A few weeks ago I was invited to stay for a few days with a friend. My mission—I am credited with being of the "happy-and-bright" type—was to cheer her up. She wasn't exactly ill, but she was nervous and depressed. Life seemed not to hold the slightest attraction for her. Yet she was well off, and was in the enviable position of being able to gratify any reasonable wish or want.

I did my best to cheer her, but after a day or two I not only knew that I was not succeeding, but felt I was getting in the dumps myself! Thereupon, faced with an effect, I determined to find the cause. And quite suddenly I knew what it was. White!

My bedroom was white—furniture, curtains, toilet ware, wall paper. The floor was linoleumed and the dominant color was white. The two rugs were white. The only thing in the room that wasn't white was my own special piece of soap.

The bathroom was all white And downstairs, in the dining room, there were white curtains, and a white breakfast service on a white tablecloth. And before the fire was spread a beautiful white rug.

It was the breakfast service that gave me the key to my growing depression. Generally, I thoroughly enjoy my breakfast, but white cups and saucers, white plates, white jam-jars, white teapot, white cream jug put me completely "off."

My friend was in her usual sad, resigned, depressed state. Remembering my "cheer-up" mission, I asked if I might, on the morrow, make a few alterations. She didn't mind what I did; she had no curiosity, even, as to my intentions.

I was obliged to take her cook into my confidence, and was lucky enough to gain her as an ally.

Next morning I was down first. I wanted to watch my friend's face when she came to breakfast. It lit up. Some of the depression lifted, and her eyes shone as she said that one word, "Oh!"

A breakfast service of blue and gold blazed on the table; the white muslin window curtains had gone, and apple-green casements were in their place; a ghastly aspidistra that had stood for years and years and years before one of the windows had been displaced in favor of a gorgeous azalea; the white rug had been replaced by a warm-colored Axminster. And for breakfast there were no eggs and no bacon. Instead, there were rissoles, cold salmon and a lovely sole.

My friend, for once, ate a breakfast. And she laughed several times. "It does make a difference, my dear, doesn't it?" she said. And I agreed. Then I told her the truth—that she had been suffering from too much white and too much sameness in food. Eggs and bacon for breakfast 313 times a year, and sausages and bacon 52 times—on Sundays! Eaten off white plates, too!

Now my friend is cured. I pushed her on relentlessly, to make her home colored and cheerful, and when I came away she was as happy as a sandboy. The last touch had been to have her white-painted stairs redone a warm and rich mahogany. No more of the tyranny of white for her!—London Answers.

Advance Copy.

It is well known that orators whose speeches are in demand by the press frequently send copies for publication before the scheduled event. This innocent dodge bespeaks an optimistic trust in fate but it isn't in the same class with the orator who sent 39 pages of typewritten "report" on his coming speech. On page 30 occurred the timely suggestion: "But it is growing late and I must close." His typed report bore this legend in brackets: (Cries of "No, no! Go on! Go on!")

Taking It Out in Trade.

The minister went to the village barber, with whom he was at loggerheads, for a shave. When it was finished he proffered the usual dime.

"I'll take it in preaching!" replied the barber, refusing the coin.

"My friend," rejoined the minister, with dignity, "I haven't 10-cent sermons."

"That's all right, sir!" retorted the barber. "I'll come twice!"

The Never-Said.

"Yes, dear; I have been playing poker. I was not detained at the office."

"That hair you found on my shoulder, love, is from my stenographer's head."

"Yes, judge, my home brew has an alcoholic content of six per cent."

"Your honor, I was driving forty-eight miles an hour because I was in a hurry."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

A Little Fun for Himself.

"Well, Vaughin, how's your sweetheart?"

"We're not friends any more."

"Well, you're going to make up, aren't you?"

"Sure, but I'm going to play insulted for about a week and spend some of my money on myself."

Arms Too Long?

The commonest physical defect in the human race is that the arms are disproportionately long. This defect occurs more often in men than in women, and more frequently among the colored than among the white races.

PASSION FOR CLASSIC LORE

President William Henry Harrison Checked in His Inaugural Address by Webster.

The part the classics play in this modern world grows less and less; allusion to the stalwarts of the ancient world is seldom encountered, for instance, in the speeches of public men; the heroes of Greece and Rome are forgotten largely except for the student. What President of these United States today would begin his inaugural address thus: "It was the remark of a Roman consul, in an early period of that celebrated republic"? For such was the opening sentence uttered by President William Henry Harrison at his inauguration.

The hero of Tippecanoe had said of his soldiers after that battle, "Every private in the whole army, on that occasion was a Leonidas, Epaminondas, or Horatius Cocles." He was a reader of the classics, and liked particularly "Plutarch's Lives." So it was natural perhaps, that his inaugural address should start off as it did. That it did not bristle from beginning to end with classical illusions is due to Daniel Webster.

A day or two before the address was delivered the secretary of state was to be seen coming out of General Harrison's residence, seemingly no little agitated. "What is the matter with you this morning?" inquired a friend unexpectedly coming upon him; "you seem agitated, Mr. Webster."

"Agitated, sir? And who would not feel agitated that had committed the crimes, murders most foul, and from malice aforethought, of I know not how many Greeks and Romans"

But for Webster, Miltiades would have fought Marathon over again, the Horatii re-exterminated the Curtatii and Quintus Curtius have taken a second leap into the fatal chasm, had the general's original purpose been carried out. It was said at the time that Harrison, while he reluctantly consented to the exclusion of other Roman celebrities, insisted upon retaining the Roman consul in his opening sentence, to which Webster finally yielded on condition that his name be suppressed.—Kansas City Star.

How Dogs Got Their Names.

The derivation of dogs' names recently formed the subject of an interesting discourse by a well-known dog fancier. The spaniel, it seems, was so called because the original breed of this type came from Spain. The Blenheim spaniel got his from Blenheim palace, where this dog first gained popularity in the time of the great duke of Marlborough. In the same way the King Charles spaniel owes its name to the merry monarch. Fox terriers did not gain their name from a likeness to the fox, but from the fact that formerly they were used in hunting foxes Many years ago they were sent by their masters down the fox's burrow to draw and kill their quarry. It was in those days a saying that a good terrier never came out of burrow without a fox.

Heart of Palm as Food.

Jewelers search the world to supply rare gems for their clients The modiste follows the ever-changing fashion universe. And there are select grocery companies which call on every part of the globe for rare delicacies to satisfy fastidious appetites with food luxuries. "Couer de Palmier" is the name of one vegetable that adorns the shelves of some companies. Put into English, it is the heart of the palm tree and comes from the Reunion islands, the native home of the extinct dodo, which lie 500 miles south of Cape Town. There is one heart to each palm tree. There are three hearts to a $1.15 tin. Heart of palms is used to take the place of asparagus in salads, etc.

Bugs Drawn to Bright Lights.

Feeding fish by electric light is an experiment being tried at a hatchery in a mid-western state. It was discovered that an incandescent bulb at the edge of one of the ponds for young channel catfish attracted various night-flying bugs and that the fishes caught them whenever they ventured close to the water. More lights were strung around the tanks and now the finny creatures are furnished with thousands of insects that swarm about the bright rays on summer nights.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

New Version.

As the motorcar drew up, the best man affixed behind it a long "streamer," with the words "Under new management" on it. Thus the amused passersby learned of the marriage, while the husband and wife were blissfully unconscious of what caused so much amusement.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's Ismet Pasha

Turkey having been declared a republic, with Angora as its capital, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who commanded the Turkish armies which successfully defended the Dardanelles in the World War and who drove the Greeks into the sea at Salonica, has been elected its president for a term of four years. He at once selected Ismet Pasha, his right-hand man both in the army and in political life, as his Premier.

Hereunto annexed is a certificate of the Kingston Trust Company, in which all of the town funds are deposited, certifying to the balances in the several funds at the close of business yesterday, December 27th, 1922. You will note that the General Fund shows a balance by that certificate of $1,531 29, and the Highway Fund a balance of $8,764.48. The balance in the general fund should be decreased by a check drawn on that account for $1,500, which was this day deposited to the Highway Fund, and the Highway Fund balance should be increased by the sum of $1,500 by reason of such deposit. Attached is the certificate that such deposit was made today. This transfer was authorized on November 4th, 1922, by the Town Board, and in the foregoing report I have credited myself with the transfer in the General Fund and charged myself with the same in the Highway Fund (machinery account). The balance on the certificate of the bank, as increased by the sum of $1,500 as aforesaid, you will note is $89.97 in excess of the aggregate balances of all the Highway Accounts. This is due to the fact that I have issued checks on the several accounts to the amount with the amounts of which I have credited myself as having paid them, but the same have not yet been presented to the bank.

The foregoing comprehends all of the financial transactions in relation to my office. I desire, however, to call to your attention and to the attention of the taxpayers and citizens of the town, that the finances of the town are in better condition than they have been for a long period of time, and that the several officers of the town have exerted every effort to get for the town full value for all of the moneys which have been expended.

We have bought and paid for a new crusher and bins, and a new engine to run the same.

We have built more mileage of county road than any other town in the county.

And we have cut down the amount of the town audit over that of last year to a considerable extent.

The most important thing, however, to the taxpayers of the town is the material cut in the tax rate which we have achieved. The figures are of themselves more expressive that I can be.

The tax rate for town purposes in 1921 was	.01799148
The tax rate for town purposes in 1922 is	.01437596

A DECREASE of $3.62 per thousand.

The tax rate for town purposes, for highways in 1921, (outside Pine Hill) was	.02001301
The tax rate for town purposes for highways in 1922, (outside Pine Hill) is	.01434771

A DECREASE of $5.67 per thousand.

The tax rate for highway purposes (Pine Hill) in 1921, was	.01592311
The tax rate for highway purposes (Pine Hill) in 1922, was	.01036777

A DECREASE of $5.56 per thousand.

In other words, the taxpayers in the town outside the Village of Pine Hill will have to pay $9.29 less for taxes on each thousand dollars of valuation, and the taxpayers of the Village of Pine Hill will have to pay $9.18 less for taxes an each thousand dollars of valuation.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. LEE BREITHAUPT, Supervisor.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that at the close of business on the 27th day of December, 1922, H. Lee Breithaupt, Supervisor of the Town of Shandaken, had on deposit to his credit as Supervisor of said town, in this bank, the following amounts:

General Fund	$1,531.29
Highway Fund	8,764.48
Poor Fund	764.19
School Fund	328.60

EXICO LIKES YANKEE GAMES

ple of Neighboring Republic are Becoming More Sportsmanlike As a Consequence.

I had been greatly impressed with at American sports are doing for ng Mexico. American sports are ces all over the republic now—ketball, baseball, volley ball, hand-l, tennis and all the typical Ameri-sports.

Even the president has a handball rt up at Chapultepec for his eight-year-old boy to play on. I asked if he did not feel that these Ameri-sports were going to teach his peo-how to "play the game."

In Mexico the minute a man is de-ed for office or the minute that a ther defeats him in debate or wins girl from him, that Mexican wants kill his opponent or start a revolu-. They have not learned to be t we Americans call "good sports." erican games are teaching them spirit, says William I Stidger in Outlook.

After I had explained what I meant admitted that my implications and ductions were true and that he had nifested his confidence in the Y. M. A., which introduced these sports o Mexico, by giving that American stitution a government gift of 25,000 ks.

"What are your personal sports?" I ed him.

"Billiards and poker," he said, with smile.

ONDON LOSING ITS VOICE

mous Old Street Cries of the Metropolis Are Dying Out One After Another.

Even in London, most conservative cities, one by one the famous old eet cries are dying out.

In Shakespeare's day the streets re musical with this chanting of ndermen, calling their wares, each his own particular lilting tune.

The last to be heard in modern Lon-n is that of the lavender peddlers: "Sweet lavender, sweet lavender!

"Won't you buy my sweet lavender? "Sixteen branches for a penny!"

It's still heard on the side streets, t its days are numbered. It's easier walk to a drug store and get moth-balls.

Just as the street cries are dying t, so also are the London flower rls—famous in song and story—dis-ppearing.

Once they were to be seen all over e city—these "girls" whose ages nged from sixteen to sixty. Picadil-Circus has been their last stronghold. But there are signs that they're ing ousted even from this favored ot. Men, mostly ex-soldiers out of egular jobs, are now selling flowers.

Man-Killing Horse.

What is said to be the strangest anslaughter case ever tried in the minal courts of the United States scheduled to be heard in Middle-ury, Vt., in the near future. Wil-m Hillock, a farmer, is to face a ry on the charge of being responsi-le for the death of A. W. Woodcock, eighty-year-old neighbor. The de-endant is the owner of a stallion, hich broke away and entered the ard of Woodcock, attacking and kill-g him before any one could come to s aid. The state will contend that illock was directly responsible in hat he was negligent in not keeping a icious animal properly restrained. he horse was permitted the freedom f its own barnyard, it is said, but oke from the yard, trotted down the ighway and entered the open gate of Woodcock's place. It first attacked loyd Woodcock and was beaten off ith a pitchfork. It then approached he old man, striking him down with s hoofs, causing injuries which re-ulted in his death.

Following Orders.

He was on sentry duty for the first me. An officer approached.

"Halt! Who goes there?" he shouted.

"Officer of the day." And the officer ontinued on his rounds.

But he hadn't gone far when the entry shouted again: "Halt! Who oes there?"

The officer halted and looked back furiously.

"What's the idea," he snarled, "halting me twice like this? What's the idea?"

"Never you mind about the idea," said the sentry. "My orders is to call 'Halt' three times and then shoot!"

A Novel Fruit.

Satsuma, a variety of orange, is to be introduced to the New York public. It is not entirely novel, but has never been marketed under its own name. A concerted attempt to specialize in this variety is now under way in certain districts of southern Alabama, and arrangements have been made to handle it co-operatively in New York under the name of Satsuma.

Analogous.

"I asked my five-year-old youngster," writes P. W., "if he could tell me why the little hand of a watch goes faster than the big one." His reply was, "I guess it's for the same reason I have to run when I go walking with you, don't it, daddy?"

That Vague Feeling.

Mrs. A.—Did you ever have the feeling that you had met a person before and perhaps had an unpleasant experience in the dim past?

Mrs. B.—Yes, I sometimes have that feeling when hiring a cook.—Boston Transcript.

FINDS CORALS MEAT EATERS

Geological Survey Head Discovers No Vegetation in Whole Colony in the Tortugas.

The builders of coral reefs and islands are entirely meat-eating animals, according to the report of Dr. T. Wayland Vaughan of the United States geological survey to the Pan-Pacific science congress, which recently held its meeting in the Antipodes, says a Melbourne (Australia) correspondent of the New York Evening Post. In experiments conducted by him in the Tortugas, in the Gulf of Mexico, corals persistently refused a vegetable diet, but even water fleas were not swift enough to dodge the lightning-like tentacles of these carnivorous creatures.

The living coral is a branched colony of individuals all connected together, and with their soft bodies encased in strong shells. Each individual is little more than a stomach, with a mouth surrounded by tentacles and sheltered in a little cup of the limey skeleton within which the whole colony is inclosed.

Doctor Vaughan described how when a little beef juice or a small bit of meat, usually crab flesh or fish, was offered, the tentacles at the outer edge of the colony would begin to appear. Then the stimulus was transmitted to other members of the colony until soon the surface of the specimen had opened out like a beautiful flower. This condition, he explains, seems to indicate that the coral colony is hungry and ready to capture food.

Many different kinds of food were offered corals, Doctor Vaughan said, but they took only animal food. No kind of purely vegetable food was taken by any one of the numerous species investigated. Pieces of plants coated with small animals soaked in meat juice were swallowed, but later the vegetable matter was ejected.

BACTERIA FROM THE RIFLE

Interesting Experiment Proves They Can Be Fired From a Gun Without Apparent Injury.

A singular experiment with bacteria is that of a French investigator, who has proved that those microscopic enemies to human life and health can be fired out of a gun without suffering any apparent injury.

He has infected rifle bullets with bacteria and then fired the bullets into tin boxes filled with a gelatin preparation suitable for the nourishment of the micro-organisms. Upon watching the holes made by the bullets in the preparation, he found that the precise forms of bacteria with which the bullets had been charged rapidly developed there, although it was known that no organisms existed in the gelatin previous to the experiment.

He has even found that a bullet will pick up bacteria from the air during its flight, or from clothing through which it passes, and deposit them, still active and living, in a gelatin target.

Locomotive Pile Driver.

A unique development in mechanical engineering is a locomotive pile driver, in which there is an unusual arrangement and strength of the self-propelling mechanism and in the self-contained hydraulic turntable, whereby the entire machine, including trucks, is quickly lifted clear of the rails and turned end for end. The engines on the car are connected to the axles of ordinary trucks without interfering with the movement of the trucks in turning curves, passing over frogs, and the like. The machine was designed to meet the requirement for a pile driver capable of climbing any grade and hauling its own cars of piles and tools. The self-propelling pile drivers built hitherto have been capable of moving themselves for short distances only.

Shirtmaker to Apollo.

An enterprising haberdasher in Germany has put his knowledge of the classics to excellent use in his advertising. Here are a few specimen ads:

"Even Macbeth could sleep in our nightshirts."

"Don Juan would have doubled his conquests by wearing our neckties."

"When Niobe began to weep she ordered six dozen of our handkerchiefs."

"We could have arrayed Solomon in twice his glory."

"Had Lot's wife passed our windows she would have stopped to look no matter what the consequences."

"We made Apollo's shirts."

"Desdemona would never have been careless about her handkerchief had it been one of ours; they are too beautiful."—Boston Transcript.

Usually the Way.

"Well, Bobby," said the minister to the small son of one of his deacons. "what is the news?"

"Dad's got a new set of false teeth."

"Indeed!" said the minister, restraining a desire to laugh; "and what will he do with the old set?"

"Oh, I suppose," replied Bobby, "he'll cut 'em down and make me wear 'em."

SOME RECORDS IN THINNESS

Platinum Wire, Filament of Spider's Web and Soap Bubble at Its Dark Spot.

Platinum wire has been drawn so fine that 30,000 pieces of it placed side by side would not cover more than an inch, while 150 pieces bound together would be necessary to form a thread as thick as a filament of raw silk.

A mile of this wire would not weigh more than a grain, while seven ounces of it would extend from London to New York.

Fine as is the filament produced by the silkworm that produced by the spider is even more attenuated. If, for instance, a thread of a spider's web measured four miles, it would weigh little more than a grain.

As a soap bubble floats in the light of the sun it reflects to the eye an endless variety of gorgeous tints. Newton showed that to each of these tints corresponds a certain thickness of the substance forming the bubble; in fact, he showed that all transparent substances, when reduced to a certain degree of thinness, would reflect these colors.

Near the highest point of the bubble, just before it bursts, can be seen a spot which reflects no color and appears black. According to Newton, the thickness of the bubble at this black point is the 2,500,000th part of an inch.

IVORY FROM SKIMMED MILK

Substitute for This and Other Materials Is Produced by a Recent Process.

Combining beauty with utility, a material is being made from skimmed milk by a process recently brought to the United States from England. As it is non-inflammable, odorless, and can be drilled, glued or dyed, it has a multitude of uses as a substitute for ivory, ebony, amber, tortoiseshell, horn, and other similar products. Besides, it may be used as an almost perfect imitation of many natural products of great price, among them being Chinese jade and lapis lazuli. A brilliant polish is easily obtained and it can be bent, pressed, and, to some extent, moulded, or machined. As it is a non-conductor of electricity, it may be used in making decorative radio and lighting fixtures. Also it has been found valuable for ships' cabins, handrails, automobile fixtures, and in the making of beads, buckles, buttons, jewelry, fancy ornaments, cigarette holders, combs, brushes, carriage handles, parts of furniture, pencils and penholders, organ stops, and piano keys.

Hongkong's Swift Growth.

Hongkong, when occupied by the British in 1841, was just a barren island, and the part of the peninsula opposite, known as Kowloon, merely sand and marshland. The inhabitants were fishermen or pirates, or both. Today Hongkong with its thriving city of Victoria, holds a population of about 1,000,000. In 40 years the revenue and expenditures of Hongkong and its suburbs have increased twenty-fold. One of its difficulties is the housing question. Standardized houses with from four to six rooms are being erected at a cost of $4,000 to $6,500. Hongkong's harbor has been so much improved that it now ranks as one of the greatest ports in the world.

Gives Chin a Rest.

"It says here: 'One of the idols most revered by any heathen is a figure of a woman, seated, resting her chin in her hands,'" said Mrs. Farr, reading from a book.

"Which proves they are about the wisest people on earth," suggested her husband.

"How so, Orrin?"

"Well," said Mr. Farr, with emphasis, "because they make a deity of a woman who has sense enough to give her chin a rest."—Life.

Flour From Canada.

Up to recently the United States supplied practically all of the flour imported into Cuba. In 1919 Canada supplied 1.9 per cent of Cuban flour imports, compared with 97.9 per cent from the United States. In 1920 and 1921 Canada supplied 3.4 and 8.8 per cent, respectively, while the United States supplied 96.4 per cent in both years. Importers state that Canadian competition has recently shown a marked increase.

New Zealand Flocks Dwindle.

One of the difficulties operating against the meat-freezing industry in New Zealand is the decrease in the number of sheep in the dominion, success in this industry being largely dependent upon maintenance of production. It is hoped, however, that putting more reclaimed land into condition for grazing will eventually bring the flocks back to normal.

Big Horn's Water Power.

A party of government engineers, said to be the sixth party ever to go through the tortuous canyon of Big Horn river in Wyoming and Montana, will soon publish a report showing how that stream can be dammed to furnish 84,600 continuous horsepower, says the Kansas City Star.

New Zealand Building.

New Zealand expects to raise $5,000,000 to aid persons desiring to build homes. The new fund, if approved by the government, will allow an advance up to 95 per cent of construction costs. The government has already assisted in the building of 12,861 homes at an expenditure of about $91,000,000.

FORTUNES IN WRITING SONGS

All That Is Needed Is to Catch the Popular Fancy, and Wealth Comes.

The announcement that F. E. Weatherly, the barrister who took to song writing, is still hale and hearty at seventy-five, and is shortly to be married, adds a new chapter to the romance of song-making.

Mr. Weatherly, many of whose songs were set to music by Michael Maybrick, better known as "Stephen Adams," has written some of the world's most popular songs, among them "Nancy Lee," "They All Love Jack," "Nirvana," and "The Holy City."

Song writing means moneymaking if once the popular taste can be caught, says London Tit-Bits. Irving Berlin has made, we are told, more than £20,000 out of "When I Lost You," "That's How I Need You" and "When I Leave the World," and is believed to be still making anything from £10,000 to £14,000 in royalties every year.

A single song, "Oh, Marguerite," brought Osmond Carr £28,000, and the author and composer of "Her Golden Hair Was Hanging Down Her Back" netted £20,000, while "The Bogey Man" earned over £10,000.

In a wholly different category come such popular favorites as "A Perfect Day" and "The Lost Chord," yet Miss Carrie Jacob-Bond's publishers have sold more than 4,500,000 copies of the former, and Sir Arthur Sullivan received £10,000 in royalties on the latter before he died, and it is still earning money.

Samuel Lucas was paid £16,000 in royalties on "My Grandfather's Clock," 3,000,000 copies were sold in a few years of Miss Meta Orred's "In the Gloaming," and more than twice that number is recorded in respect of Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Song of the Republic," with its noble opening.

COTTON MILLS GAIN IN ASIA

They Are Multiplying Rapidly, but the Mortality of Mill Workers in Japan Is High.

The people of densely populated Asia are clothed in cotton, says the Living Age. That continent produces large quantities of this useful staple. Asiatics are fairly competent and remarkably cheap mill operatives. Naturally, therefore, cotton mills are multiplying rapidly in Japan, China and India, where they create new social problems almost as quickly as they supply the local market with yarns and fabrics.

The industry already gives employment to more than 100,000 operatives in China, and more than 230,000 operatives in Japan. Four-fifths of the workers in Japanese mills are women or girls; but in China and India male labor is principally employed. It has long been known that the mortality among Japanese spinners, especially from tuberculosis, is very high. Their hours of labor are long, and the annual turnover approaches 100 per cent.

Chinese in Canada.

Calculations put the number of Chinese in Canada today at 58,000, against 14,000 twenty years ago. These figures have been responsible for the Stewart bill, aiming at the abrogation of the $500 Chinese head tax and the admission into Canada of students and merchants under restricted conditions. In Vancouver alone (according to the London Times) there are 40 Chinese butchers, 65 barbers, 172 grocers, 30 jewelers, 201 tobacconists, 29 wholesale dealers, 159 hawkers and peddlers, 50 boot and shoe dealers, 5 publishers, 54 stationers, and they control 144 confectionery shops, 63 clothing stores, 30 express and dray businesses and 80 restaurants.

Why Not?

"Now, boys," said the schoolmaster to the geography class, "I want you to bear in mind that the affix 'stan' means 'the place of.' Thus we have Afghanistan, the place of Afghans—also Hindustan, the place of Hindus. Can any one give another example?"

Nobody appeared very anxious to do so until little Johnny Snaggs, the joy of his mother and the terror of cats, said proudly, "Yes, sir, I can. Umbriastan, the place for Umbrellas."

Now You Can Shave in the Dark.

Designed especially for use by traveling men, a self-illuminating safety razor makes it possible to shave in the dark. In the handle of the razor is a tiny electric bulb, encased in a rubber holder which prevents dampness from rusting it. The lamp is adjusted so that it always throws its light on the spot where the razor is cutting. A clean shave in pitch darkness is said to be possible with this device.

Alcohol Street Lamps.

Buenos Aires, rapidly becoming up to date, still has grain alcohol lamps to light her streets, although kerosene and alcohol street lamps are being gradually superseded by electricity. More than a thousand alcohol lamps were installed during 1922. There are at present 3,273 alcohol street lamps in use in the city.

Women's Inventions.

Women in the past ten years have invented some 1,400 different "new and useful articles," according to a report by the United States patent office, ranging from a rotary plowshare to an egg beater. Among inventions enumerated are a cow tail holder, a reinforced bowl in which to beat eggs, and an artificial eyelash.

SOME WORDS OVERWORKED

Study of the Dictionary of Synonyms Would Vastly Improve the Conversation of Many Persons.

The sterling qualities of the active individual nowadays must shine through his conversation, his purpose, his thoughts, and those he borrowed must be riveted in the hearer's mind by words which cannot be forgotten. Unfortunately many of those engaged in great purposes have lamentably failed to augment their vocabularies by reference to a book of synonyms. Thus, we are suffering from the overwork of a few words.

The idea now is to "sell" something, an idea, a state, a climate. There must be a "selling appeal," a "sales plan," and then it is sure to "go over." It "absolutely" cannot fail. You must agree "absolutely" that the weather is good, bad or indifferent or the "efficiency" hound will put "kick" and "pep" into his arguments until you shout "shoot," listen and become convinced.

But having been "sold" is not enough for the builder of the "atmosphere" in which you were trapped. He will want to know, must know, in fact, your "reactions." Ah, the reaction. There is a word both subtle and enthralling. You can have reactions to a book, a piece of cheese, a miserable blowout or a bonfire. That is where the "peppful efficiency" person must check the flow of his "sales talk" long enough to listen.

So you ask him to please pass the butter and wonder why they spend time and money printing dictionaries. —Spokane Spokesman-Review.

NEW STORY BY MARK TWAIN

Harpers Have It but It Will Not Be Published for Two Hundred Years.

A great treat is in store for the lovers of books who are on earth two hundred years from now. They will have a fresh story written by Mark Twain. Persons living nowadays never will know what the master wrote in this story, for it is sealed and is not to be read or published until two centuries have elapsed.

The Harpers, who are moving their printing house from Franklin street to their new building uptown, possess the precious manuscript. In moving desks around in their old quarters the other day they found one with a secret drawer. When this was opened a sealed package was found in it, and a not written on it said it contained a story or article by Mark Twain and was not to be opened or published for two hundred years.

That is all that is known about it. The package is in possession of the Harpers, who will doubtless carry out the writer's intentions. It will remain unopened until well into the Twenty-second century. Then the citizens of this world will have something good to read.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Keeping Up the Standard.

The social caste of customers is not commonly supposed to be regarded in quick-lunch restaurants, but a Philadelphia paper tells this story: "A fastidious person made his way into a steaming, fly-infested little restaurant. The young woman behind the counter placed a tumbler of water before him with a thump.

"What's yours?" she asked sharply.

"Coffee and rolls."

She set before him a mug a quarter of an inch thick and as heavy as iron, filled with a brown fluid. The man seemed dazed. He looked under the mug and over it. "But where is the saucer?" he asked.

"We don't give no saucers here," replied the waitress. "If we did some low-brow'd come pilin' in and drink out of his saucer, and we'd lose a lot of our best customers."

A Typewriter Word Counter.

A detachable device recently made in England that may be put on any style of machine is a word counter which registers the number of words written as the typewriter keys are played. The invention takes the form of a T-flap which rests on the space bar. The operator of the typewriter strikes the T-bar at the end of each word and the machine spaces, at the same time recording the word number.

Hall-Marks From Australia.

The Retail Jewelers' association of Australia has established a hall-marking company in Sydney with the purpose of inducing all manufacturers in Australia to adopt the hall-mark system now in operation in most civilized countries. The company intends to follow in close detail the practice of the English Hall-Mark company. The mark registered for gold is the "Kookaburra," and for silver the "Wren."

One Too Many.

Architect—Now, where would you prefer the drawing room, sir?

Mr. Struklle—Look here, young man, I've let you put up a music room, when I couldn't play a mouth organ; a nursery, when I ain't got no nurse; and a pantry, when I don't pant. But I'm goin' to draw the line at a drawin' room, when I couldn't even draw a straight line.

A Surfeited Traveler.

During the 36 years that Joseph C. Beck was a clerk in the railway mail service between Chicago and Cleveland, on the New York Central, he traveled 2,697,000 miles, a distance equivalent to 120 times around the earth. He participated in several wrecks, but always escaped injury, and now deems it time to seek retirement.

VOICE WITH FIVE OCTAVES

Austrian Utters Notes Whose Vibrations Range From 42 Up to 1,740 in a Second.

At a recent meeting of the Austrian society of experimental phonetics in Vienna, Doctor Rethl presented Michael Prita, age forty-four, whose voice possesses the remarkable range of five complete octaves.

The deepest note uttered by this singer was a bass F corresponding to 42 vibrations per second and two octaves lower, therefore, than the deepest note which can be produced on the violin. The only previous record of so low a tone in the human voice is that of a bass singer named Fischer, who lived in the early part of the Eighteenth century. Prita also rendered upper C with its full artistic value.

Beyond that the notes passed into the head register and into a falsetto resembling a soprano, says the English Mechanic quoted in the Scientific American. The highest notes emitted were the upper F (demi-semi-quaver), and on exceptional occasions upper A (demi-semi-quaver), corresponding to 1,740 vibrations per second which is one note higher than the highest sung by Patti.

CONSCIENCE ON PHONE WIRE

How a Philandering Employer Was Rather Rudely Disturbed by an Unexpected Call.

A New York lawyer, gazing idly out of his window, saw the pretty stenographer across the street sitting in her employer's lap. The lawyer noticed the lettered name on the window and then searched in the telephone book. Still keeping his eye upon the scene across the street he called the gentleman up, says Judge. In a few moments he saw him start violently and take down the receiver. "Yes," said the lawyer through the phone, "I should think you would start."

The victim moved his arm from its former position and began to stammer something.

"Yes," continued the lawyer severely. "I think you'd better take that arm away. And while you're about it, as long as there seems to be plenty of chairs in the room—"

The victim brushed the lady from his lap, rather roughly.

"Who—who the devil is this, anyway?" he managed to splutter.

"I," answered the lawyer, in deep impressive tones, "am your conscience," and then he hung up.

Not Fair to the Fish.

The Mississippi river misbehaves in spring, as residents near it know to their cost. Its waters spread out far and wide over the adjacent country, and millions of fish go with them. Soon the stream subsides, and these fish are left to die, as the shallow pools that are formed by the receding waters dry up or freeze. The service sends out soliing parties, which follow down the diminishing river and rescue the fish from the pools and either restore them to the stream or distribute them to other waters. In 1919 more than 100,000,000 fish were thus saved. Twenty fish hatcheries could not produce fish equal in number and size to those rescued. Their cash value at the rates charged by commercial hatcheries exceeds the total appropriations of the government for the fish cultural service.—William C. Redfield, in The Outlook.

Well Recommended.

A shopkeeper had in his employ a man so lazy as to be utterly worthless.

One day, his patience exhausted, he discharged him.

"Will you give me a character?" asked the lazy one.

The employer sat down to write a noncommittal letter. His effort resulted as follows:

"The bearer of this letter has worked for me one week and I am satisfied."

Politely Hinted.

"Thee will never visit us again," said the elderly Quaker to the visiting young man who had long overstayed his welcome. "Oh, sir, how can you say that? Of course I will visit you again." "No, my young brother, I fear thee will never visit us again." "But," said the young man, "what makes you think I will never visit you again?" "Well," replied the Quaker, "if thee will never go, how can thee ever come again?"

Canada's Pulp and Paper.

Canadian exports of paper, wood pulp and pulp wood for the month of May, 1923, were valued at $12,621,633, an increase of $3,358,516 as compared with May, 1922 (in which month similar exports totaled $9,263,117), an increase of $2,573,985 over the April, 1923, figure of $10,047,648. Exports of paper in May were valued at $8,009,528, wood pulp at $3,549,156 and pulp wood at $1,062,949.

WHERE ALL THE SUGAR GOES

Bakers and Makers of Candy and Soft Drinks Use Vast Amounts of It.

Not more than half of the sugar we Americans consume is used in our homes. The rest goes into manufactured products. The estimates of the quantities used in manufacture run this way:

Our candy makers alone use more than 350,000 tons, and 130,000 tons more go to sweeten up chocolates and ice creams.

Every year the bakers dip into the national sugar bowl for well over 45,000 tons for bread, 55,000 tons for crackers and 90,000 tons goes every year into frostings and odds and ends in the bakeries.

Fourteen thousand or more soft-drink makers hit the nation's sugar bin for at least 150,000 tons for their concoctions and another 100,000 tons goes into condensed milk.

Twenty thousand tons of sugar is chewed up each year in gum; and less aesthetic jaws worked on another 15,000 tons that goes into the nation's "eatin' tobacco," thus not including about 6,000 tons that goes to smoking tobaccos.

The country's pill and potion bill disposes of about 6,000 tons of sugar each year, and the corner druggist uses an unknown quantity in filling what the doctor ordered.

Even sticky fly paper and roach, ant and rat killers draw from the sugar supply to the tune of hundreds of tons.

And nobody knows how much has gone into bootleg and home-brew.—Nation's Business.

SCALING SHIPS BY MACHINERY

Labor-Saving Device for Cleaning Bottoms of Vessels Is Run by Compressed Air.

Scaling ships' bottoms by machinery is the latest labor-saving practice devised to aid "those who go down to the sea in ships." Ever since the advent of iron and steel hulls, one of the meanest jobs faced by Jack is cleaning the vessel's underwater section when the ship is placed in dry dock. Hammers with chisel-like heads, wire brushes and even cold chisels have been laboriously wielded to clean off marine growths, rust and the old paint.

Now comes the ship scaling machine run by compressed air and looking very much like the pneumatic riveters so painfully familiar to New Yorkers who live near modern building operations—and who doesn't? By its use, one man with a scaling machine can do as much in a day as could six men with the old-time methods and do a better and cleaner job at that. Gauze goggles are needed, however, in operating the ship scaler, because it works so fast, that bits of metal, rust and paint fly about in a veritable shower. Another modification of the machine is run by electricity.

Voice Pictures.

So that future generations might be able to compare the quality of her song with that of voices yet unheard, Melba consented to sing into Professor Low's audiometer, an instrument which photographs the waves of sound as they come from the singer's lips. This photograph is quite different from that of any other voice ever recorded. No other has had anything resembling the same variation combined with the same regularity. It is full of harmonics and infinitesimal variations in the wave, but these waves are perfect in regularity. This might account for its carrying power, by superimposition, since it is not a loud voice in the ordinary sense.

Heroic Act of Collie.

A collie dog is reported to have saved the life of a London (Ont.) girl, while accompanying the child to a nearby store. The girl stopped on the railroad tracks in the path of a flier. Realizing the child's peril, the dog threw himself against her with sufficient impact to knock her clear of danger, and was cut to pieces by the train before he could regain safety. The little one's mother had tried to discourage the dog from going when the daughter started on her errand.

Shooting Cement.

An 18-mile tunnel has been pierced to bring New York's water from the Catskills. Four hundred thousand barrels of cement will be used in lining the tunnel. A mixing plant at the mouth of each one of the seven shafts of the tunnel discharges compounded concrete down an eight-inch pipe at the rate of a mile a minute. The concrete is shot into steel forms by a "concrete cannon."

Frank About It.

A visitor to a mountain village found a sect which believed that the world was flat and made that a tenet.

"You hang together well," he suggested to an elder.

"We don't always hang together so well at that," responded the elder frankly, "but we ain't got enough members for a split."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Watch Geese" for Warehouse.

Several of his watchdogs were stolen, so now a London warehouseman is using geese instead, taught no doubt by the old story of Rome being saved from night capture by the geese of the capital. Geese are nervous birds and can be relied on to cackle in the presence of anything unusual, he says. Many men are afraid to go near a goose.

First American Wood Engraver.

Alexander Anderson was the first engraver on wood in America. At the age of twelve he made quite successful attempts at engraving on copper and type-metal, and in 1793, when employed in copying drawings on wood, after Bewick, for an American edition of the Looking-Glass, he discarded the type-metal upon which he had been working and cut the rest of the illustrations upon boxwood, with tools of his own invention. Anderson signed his name to the first wood-cut published on this continent, and thus gained for himself the title of the American Bewick. The vast number of books illustrated by him attest the skill and industry of this pioneer of the art of wood engraving, who continued in the daily practice of his profession till a few months before he died.

Logs Forecast Rainy Weather.

Floating cedar logs in a small lake have been the "weather prophet" for residents of a northern Michigan city for 15 years. In all that time, observers say, their "forecaster" has never failed. Awaiting the great saws of the city's lumber mills, huge rafts of the timber lie close inshore, but about 14 hours before a rain, it is said, the mass breaks apart and single logs move slowly out to the center of the lake. There is no current in the water and the movements occur on windy or calm days prior to a storm. When fair weather appears they gather again packed closely at the water's edge.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Lake of Miracle Waters.

In a village of Bengal, India, a small lake that has existed for many years has been found to possess marvelous healing powers, it is reported. Persons afflicted with almost incurable maladies are said to have been permanently cured by bathing in it. Only on a certain day of the week are the baths of benefit. During the other six days the curative properties are claimed to be absent. Thousands of natives gather in the town for "miracle day."—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Robertson-Sheldon.

Mr. and Mrs. Selah Sheldon of Granite announce the marriage of their daughter, Gladys R., to W. Harry Robertson of Woodhaven, L. I.

Baer-Short.

Mr. and Mrs. William Short announce the marriage of their daughter, Ethel, to William Baer of Andrew street, in Newburgh, on Wednesday, October 31.

Post-Lyons.

Harold Post and Alice Hale Lyons, both of Washington avenue, Kingston, were united in marriage Saturday evening, October 27, at 8 o'clock at the Reformed parsonage at Hurley by the Rev. Charles W. Smith. They were attended by Miss Ethel M. Green and Charles E. Bishop.

A Hallowe'en Party.

A Hallowe'en party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Munson, on Gill street Wednesday evening. Piano selections were played by George Pardee and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith introduced some new dancing steps. Refreshments were enjoyed which included a large Hallowe'en cake. The guests departed in the early hours of the morning, stating they had had an enjoyable evening.

A Hallowe'en Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sanford of 97 Green street entertained guests at a Hallowe'en party Wednesday evening. Music and games were enjoyed during the evening and prizes were awarded the winners. The home was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being orange and black and chrysanthemums the floral decorations. Covers were laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. H. Haiding, Mr. and Mrs. J. Heaney, Mr. and Mrs. Janieson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sanford.

Lowell Club.

The Lowell Club met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Deyo on Green street. The hostess had the first paper for the day, an exceptionally interesting presentation of the topic, "The Vikings at Home and Abroad; Raiders and Colonizers." Miss Margaret Riseley then gave a resume of "The Epic, Beowolf," which was followed by a reading, "Queen Segrid, the Haughty," given by Mrs. H. L. Brigham. This club, like the other women's clubs, voted unanimously to go on record as favoring the bond issue of $50,000,000 to make safe and secure the state institutions that house the wards of the state. Next week the Lowell Club will meet with Mrs. Fessenden.

"Kresge Klub" Enjoys Hallowe'en.

On Wednesday, the following young people, members of the Kresge Klub, enjoyed an auto ride to Highland, returning by way of New Paltz to the store on Wall street, where refreshments were served and games and dancing made the evening come all too soon to a close: Mr. and Mrs. Neeley and daughter Emily, Mr. and Mrs. Castor, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Martin, Miss Short, Miss Gallagher, Miss Moran, Miss Rice, Miss Herndon, Miss Burt, Miss Jones, Miss Drewes, Miss Dretenbach, Miss Relyea, Miss Krom, Miss Hanley, Miss Reckselgel, Misses Helen and Jewel Roche, Mr. Hoatley, Mr. Shields, Mr. Clinton, Mr. Proper, Mr. Hallie, Mr. Atkins, Mr. Finger, Mr. Jordan, Mr. Munson, Mr. Bush, Mr. Wood, Mr. Scully.

Sorosis.

Mrs. Grover Lasher entertained the members of Sorosis at her home on Lucas avenue on Monday evening at a unique social. On entertaining pumpkin-lighted Spooksburgh, by way of Ghost Alley, there was not thereafter one dull moment for the ghost and witches kept things lively. After many exciting games, Miss Hull, in a very sweet and charming voice sang two songs, "Gypsy Trail" and "Harlequin." Then followed real ghost stories. Later a weird radio voice invited the guests to the dining room, appropriately decorated with pumpkins, corn stalks and black cats. By the sole light of tiny candles at each place, the guests partook of witches' sandwiches, fried talisman, black cat beverage and good night kisses. The next meeting of Sorosis will be held next Monday afternoon with Mrs. Haines at her home on Elmendorf street.

Birthday Surprise Party.

When Sylvester T. Van Derzee, Jr., walked into the home of his father and mother-in-law at 96 Bruyn avenue Monday evening, he was movingly and agreeably surprised to see a host of friends awaiting him to celebrate his 31st birthday. The evening was most enjoyably spent in glee singing and at 11 o'clock the company was served to potato salad and sandwiches, ice cream, cake and coffee. Mr. Van Derzee was the recipient of a number of beautiful and useful gifts as well as the best wishes of a host of friends for a long and happy life. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester T. Van Derzee, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Cantine, Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. La Tour, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Howard O. Van Derzee, Mr. and Mrs. Theron B. Mowers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Dyke, the Misses Virginia and Elizabeth Wootten and Hazel Cox of Boston and Raymond Crispell, Henry and Clarence Van Derzee, Sylvester Stay, Kenneth La Tour, George Johnson, George West, Donnis Johnson and Lionel Archer.

A Hallowe'en Party.

Miss Gretchen Alward entertained some of her friends at her home on Emerick street on Monday evening. Games and victrola selections were enjoyed and piano selections were rendered by the Misses Gladys Clayton and Helen Wolfersteig. Elsa Wendland sang a solo entitled, "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses." The costumes of the evening were artistic and the hostess especially looked charming in her old fashioned costume of 1776. Prizes were given for the cruller contest and donkey game. At midnight the guests were ushered into the dining room which was artistically decorated with Hallowe'en colors where a bountiful luncheon awaited them. They all departed in the wee small hours of the morning voting the hostess a royal entertainer. Those present were the Misses Lydia Heppner, Louise Topp, Gladys Clayton, Helen Wolfersteig, Lydia Hahn, Elsa Wendland, Loretta Wendland and Mildred Dittus and the Messrs Milford Wendland, William Wendland, Harold Freer, Clarence Wolfersteig, William Kamasso, Clifford Harris, Ervin Alward, Fred Meyers and Ray Alward.

A Hallowe'en Party.

A party was given at the home of Miss Sarah McGrath 235 Hasbrouck avenue Wednesday evening. Following an automobile ride the guests assembled at the home, which was beautifully and artistically decorated with black and yellow crepe paper, pumpkins and cornstalks. During the evening solos were rendered by Miss Caddy Weick with Miss Beatrice Blanckschan at the piano and Miss Catherine Ryan with the violin. A novelty fox trot was given by Miss Sarah McGrath and Patrick McDurmit. At midnight the guests were ushered into the dining room where a buffet luncheon was served. The hit of the evening was when the guests unmasked. Games and dancing were also enjoyed. Those present were Miss Catherine Ryan, Beatrice Blankschan, Caddy Weick, Anita Grahs, Vernon Sterling, Mary Narsh, Ethel Nett, Mrs. B. McGrath, Mrs. M. Hughes, Mrs. Ida Hughes, Mrs. T. Saures, Miss Sarah McGrath, Joseph Dolson of Albany, Hugh Gilmartin, Colorado, Patrick McDurmit of New York city, John Miller of New York city, Harry Bruke, Pennsylvania, Harry Peck, Joseph Hughes and Thomas Hughes of this city and Sam Saures of Stony Hollow and Michael Burns of Rosendale. At an early hour the guests departed.

15th Wedding Anniversary.

The fifteenth anniversary of their marriage was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shaw of Lake Katrine on the evening of October 30, in a way to rejoice the hearts of all who remember the old times. Of course there were dominoes, candies, nuts and refreshments interspersed with a lively run of conversation far removed from gossip, which brought into relief the outstanding features of all present. Now the chief characteristics of the hosts are a wonderful housekeeping ability and a most remarkable facility for figures, both of which had ample scope before the evening was over. The conversation started by some one remarking how well Fred Hennenger looked, to which he replied his present good looks were not to be compared with what he would soon be with store clothes and a new automobile, as he had that day received a letter asking him to buy stock in non-shatterable glass and be a millionaire. Adding what little I have saved I have earned hard and I guess I will let them have the chance. I am no hog, but I bet you as soon as I am dead my wife will put it all in some new combination of a dishwasher, kitchen cabinet and baby's cradle. At this, Lena, who through sheer exhaustion with the day's work had fallen asleep in her chair, sat up and protested. "Ah no, I also have worked hard and I have my children; they are good children, only Emil I wish he would get interested in things; but he works and is a good boy. No, I want no glass or machine." Here Clark Shaw who knows some queer religious people up at Shokan told of a notion they had that the world was going to break up in 1925 and all the people who had ever died were to be raised and brought back in spite of the immigration laws. This caused Steve Sahler to protest there would not be room for them all to stand upright. This struck Lee in his strong spot and out came pencil and paper and in jig time he triumphantly exclaimed: "You are a way off, why the entire population of the world as it is today could be brought into the state of Texas and there would be but several persons to the acre." The face of Mrs. Etta Sahler of Accord was a study during this, and later she said she was going to spring these things on her friends on reaching home. The excellent cooking abilities of the hostess and Mrs. Mabel Sahler was then demonstrated by a repast that was heartily enjoyed by all, who left at a reasonable hour expressing the best of wishes for the future welfare of the host and hostess.

Injured When Car Overturns.

Arthur Manning, 29, of Oakes, Ulster county, is recuperating at Vassar Brothers' Hospital from injuries suffered Monday morning when an automobile he was driving skidded and overturned in South avenue, Poughkeepsie, near the National Biscuit Company plant. He was found unconscious beneath the machine by H. D. Clinton, who brought him to Vassar Brothers' Hospital.

The Pharaohs of Egypt.

Pharaoh was the title given to all the Egyptian kings up to the time of Solomon. After Solomon's date the title was always accompanied by the special name of the king, as Pharaoh Necho, Pharaoh Hophra, Pharaoh Shishak. The word comes from "Piraa" or "great house," the palace in which the king lived being used to denote the king himself. After the division of Alexander's kingdom, the kings of Egypt were all called Ptolemy for one of Alexander's generals who rose to power and obtained the government of Egypt at the distribution of the provinces in 323 B. C. The title was generally followed by some distinctive aftername as Ptolemy Philadelphia, or Ptolemy Eurgetes (Benefactor).

GYPSY KING RENOUNCES CROWN FOR CHRISTIANITY

Steve Yovanovich, "king" of the Yovanovich tribe of gypsies, renounced his crown at Los Angeles, Cal., a few minutes before the time set for his coronation. He announced his conversion to the Christian religion.

His action was taken in the Angelus temple, where hundreds had gathered to see him crowned king of all the American gypsies.

He was introduced by Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist and pastor of the temple. He told briefly of his conversion by Mrs. McPherson, declaring his health had been restored by prayer and faith.

He followed this with an announcement of abandonment of the plans of the gypsy confederation in America to choose him as the king of all tribes in the country.

"We have a President in Washington," he said. "We have the Lord, who is the King of Kings. We have decided we do not need a king of the gypsies."

Twenty gypsy chieftains from various parts of the United States then arose and elevated their right hands in token of fealty to the God of the Christian religion.

It was announced that while Yovanovich had abdicated the gypsy throne he still would retain nominally the chieftaincy of American gypsies, a post he attained recently, when George Thompson, founder of the gypsy federation, died at Compton, a suburb of Los Angeles.

CAT VICTOR OVER POLECAT

"Tom" Kills Animal, but is Now a Wanderer.

For three years a skunk lived in a happy existence about the home of Dr. Charles F. Oost, Price street, West Chester, Pa., having its den beneath the front porch of his bungalow. It was an inoffensive animal and never caused trouble or discomfort to the neighbors.

Some time ago, however, a large tomcat was introduced as a pet in the Oost home, and proceeded to become ruler of all things until it encountered the polecat one night.

There was a terrific battle on the front lawn, in which the skunk was worsted, and fled to a garage close by, from which it later chased the owner who killed it. The tomcat is now a wanderer.

BARS AUTOS FOR STUDENTS

College Head Says Machines Are Detrimental to Success.

Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri at Columbia, in a letter to parents made public, requests that students be not supplied with automobiles and that those who now have cars there be requested to take them home.

Dr. Brooks also suggests $50 for fixed expenses and $25 additional as a liberal monthly allowance for students and urges against a larger sum.

"There is probably no one thing more detrimental to success in university work than the possession of an automobile by a student," Dr. Brooks said in his letter. "Experience shows that an unusually large proportion of students having automobiles fail to graduate."

SETS DOG'S BROKEN NECK

Surgeon Uses Cast to Subdue Paralysis and Pet Recovers.

Duke, a valuable Airedale, belonging to O. S. Klotz of McKees Rocks, Pa., several weeks ago suffered a broken neck when struck by an automobile as he was chasing a rabbit near Westview.

Taking his pet to the Cat and Dog hospital, Mr. Klotz arranged for Dr. John C. Gensburg to care for him. After an operation Dr. Gensburg placed the animal's neck in a composition cast. At that time the dog was paralyzed completely.

Duke is now running around nearly recovered. He is the first dog ever treated in this city for a broken neck.

To Make Rich Red Blood
Revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves and increase your strength and endurance take Organic Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Nuxated Iron is partially predigested and ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces or iron filings.
Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results.
Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

New Safe Way to Remove Teeth Stains
Marvelous Liquid Discovery Bleaches Dark Teeth White, Instantly!
A new harmless liquid has been discovered which dissolves teeth stains instantly, giving even the dullest teeth a charming whiteness and lustre. This new liquid, called Bleachodent, actually bleaches discolored teeth white. You just brush your teeth with a few drops and before your very eyes they acquire a clear, flashing whiteness that even an hour's scouring by a dentist could not give them.
It is vitally important that only a safe, mild preparation like Bleachodent be used on children's teeth, which are especially subject to stains and decay. Bleachodent is absolutely safe in every way for it simply curdles and dissolves all staining substances from the surface of the teeth. It cannot affect the enamel in any way. Gritty and abrasive dentifrices should never be used. If you want sparkling white pearly teeth get Bleachodent today. Costs only a few cents for a bottle lasting months. WRITER OF MUSIC

Monk Was the First to Devise Simple Method.

Before Guido Wrote Notes There Was No Way for Melodies to Be Put Into Circulation.

Nine hundred years ago, in 1023, the perpetuation of music was made pos-sible by Guido, a monk of Arezzo. This year many celebrations are being held in central Germany and France in honor of the man who conceived the method of writing melodies on paper.

Before Guido brought into use the method of indicating music notes on lines, there was no way for melodies to be put into circulation other than that of transmission from person to person by humming or whistling. The name of a creator of a melody was soon forgotten, and when new tunes were heard old ones were discarded and heard no more.

The method at first employed by Guido in transcribing music was differ-ent from that used today. Instead of having five horizontal lines with notes in the spaces between them as well as on them, he used four lines with notes only in the spaces. Previous to him another monk had devised a method whereby one note was indi-cated upon which the melody was be-gun, and to complete it there was a series of directions for the melody to go up or down as the case might be, with no means for making accurate each note.

At that time the making of a manu-script of music was an art, for not only were notes placed for practical purposes, but they served a decora-tive purpose as well. There was a wide variety in the colors and the shapes of the notes for the various spaces, and other indications that were necessary were made to please the eye as well as inform the brain.

In the first space the note was writ-ten in red ink. It was not essential that a round note be made, such as those employed in the standard music of today, but the person who made the manuscript tried to put originality in his work, so in filling the space allot-ted the note he might draw a minature picture. Other spaces had their own particular colors, but the first space, "f," was distinguished in all of the manuscripts by its flaring red color.—Boston Herald.

Vest-Pocket Jazz.

A Hungarian engineer, Stephen Vadesz, has invented a gramophone no larger than a watch. The inven-tion is described as a real, practical instrument, capable of producing jazz, rags, waltzes and one-steps. The mikiphone, as it has been christened, winds like a watch. There is room inside for ten plates giving a reper-toire of 20 selections. It can be car-ried in the waistcoat pocket.

Nothing quite so small has yet been seen in England. There is, however, on the English market a midget ma-chine that can boast of being six inches high (the size of a Brownie camera) and tipping the scales at four pounds. The machine has a collapsi-ble horn and takes full-size records. When folded it is like carrying a sec-ond kodak.

Solving Problem of Living.

Learning how to live is the thing we should think of. This involves tact, a blessed and priceless value. It means the cultivation of exem-plary habits. It means earning a liv-ing, and earning a right to live. It means self-control. It means solving one's own problems before counsel is given others on how to solve their problems. It means living upon the heights. It is a noble desire for something else than the flippant, frivolous, shallow, cross way of liv-ing that second-rate people are satis-fied with. "Of making of many books there is no end." Let us relish the great books, and let more come. But knowing how to live is the chief end of our existence. Great books alone can't teach it, but right living will make great books.

CONDÉ NAST PUBLICATIONS, Inc.
Greenwich, Connecticut

Dated: July 16, 1923 Interest: Jan. & July 16

We summarize from a letter of the Condé Nast Publications, Inc., as follows:

1. The valuation placed on the plant of the Condé Nast Publications, Inc., including land, buildings and equipment is $1,300,000.

2. The company has mortgaged the publications known as 'Vogue', 'House & Garden', 'Vogue Pattern Quarterly' and 'Vanity Fair', the good-will alone of which is conservatively estimated at $1,800,000.

3. By increasing the capacity of the plant, a saving of approximately $150,000 a year can be made in printing alone.

4. The net earnings of the Conde' Nast properties in the past three years have averaged more than $375,000 annually, and this year bids fair to surpass any previous year.

5. The surplus of the Condé Nast Publications, Inc., is more than the bond issue.

The American Bond and Mortgage Company is offering these bonds because of the permanency of the earning power of these publications; also because of the excellent security afforded by the land, buildings and equipment. It should be noted that the net annual earnings as shown above is over half the amount of the bond issue, and over eight times the greatest annual interest charge.

Because of the wide popularity of these publications, and the confidence the Nast organization holds with people of means, these bonds will undoubtedly be rapidly taken up.

Full information with financial statement of the Condé Nast Publications, Inc., will be fowarded at once upon request, and we suggest that you communicate with us at the earliest possible moment.

HALLOWE'EN WAS QUIETLY PASSED

Hallowe'en was quietly celebrated in Kingston Wednesday evening and due to the largely increased police force no serious damage was done by the celebrants. This morning it was seen that there was considerable work for the window cleaners as the children had decorated the windows and some private houses with soap marks.

In some sections of the city the children "dressed up" and wearing masks paid visits to various houses. There was the usual ringing of doorbells, and a few missing gates that had not been taken in by householders. As far as could be learned no accidents marred the evening.

"Bluster" of the Porcupine.

The porcupine is a "bluffer." One of the best blusterers, for he not only turns himself into a living chestnut burr but rattles his quills against one another like some medieval knight jangling all his war harness as he enters the joust to proclaim how impregnable he is, and at the same time to hearten himself up a bit. If the porcupine shivered with fright the same rattling of the hollow quills would follow, and perhaps, if the truth were known, that is really what happens.

Crabbe and Teniers.

Can you explain or understand why Fitzgerald had such a fervent admiration for Crabbe? If the style is the man, could there be men more widely different than these two? The same pleasure can be taken in Crabbe's poetry (rhythm rather) that can be found in Teniers' pictures, not an atom more. The interior with its pots and pans is marvelously exact, but when all's done you look but on a stool.—"The Letters of Horace Edward Furness." Edited by H. H. F. J.

MORGENWRECKERS TAKE ANOTHER

Winning From Greenpoint Wednesday Evening Makes Kingston Metropolitan League Leaders—Game Was a Decided Failure From a Basketball Standpoint.

Kingston basketball fandom was treated to a varied entertainment at the armory Wednesday evening, when the Greenpoint team of the Metropolitan League was subdued by the Morgenwreckers following a hard fight. During the evening's fracas football tactics was the order with basketball interspersed, together with fisticuffs. The final score was 27 to 23.

A general rough house was in order throughout, reminding the old-timers of the days when the Troy aggregation journeyed here. To begin with but five Greenpoint players were uniformed. This was a challenge to the referee. No matter how the visitors behaved they were certain that no player would be ejected.

Barlow was pitted against Riconda and was assisted by one or more players during every play. There was very little real basketball during the most of the performance, the ruling of two men playing one being called a dead ball, accounting for some of the roughness. The visiting duo used but little brains during the evening, depending mostly upon brawn, their team work being the worst exhibition shown here so far this season. At one stage of the game in the final period, Artus and Smith both gentle fellows, staged a bout but the Marquis of Queensbery rules were not obeyed and the bout was stopped without a decision.

During the first period the local representatives registered sixteen points. Eight of these points were made from the complimentary line, six being caged without a miss. Riconda scored four of these fouls during the opening frame and added a field, making his share six. In the final period he was held scoreless. Charlie Powers was Kingston's best scorer for the game, having seven points. During the final period out of seven tries from the fifteen foot line the local club was but able to score one.

During the beginning stanza the home team fouled four times Greenpoint making good one. Carey made good this foul and he also added three from the playground. Smith made the other field, bringing the total to nine. In the nightcap session the visitors made a better showing, that is in bringing their score closer. Out of eleven tries from the penalty line they registered six times. They also caged four from the field.

The local league leaders got off to a good start when they caged six from the chalk line without a miss. Fields by Charlie Powers and Dolan and Riconda before the first quarter was ended brought the score to a safe lead. Carey caged three pretty baskets for the losers, which made the cellarites look as if they were a team. Before the first half ended Smith and Carl Husta each scored from the playground. The score at half time saw Kingston in front of a 16 to 9 tally.

The first half had its very rough edges, but the final round was much rougher. At one stage of the contest it became so much like football, the fans were calling for a punt. There was less basketball in this period the local team being unable to break loose from the claws of the enemy. The game ended without any fatalities score 27 to 23. By winning this contest Kingston takes the lead in the Metropolitan league and the Greenpoint team is pushed further down into the cellar. Ward Brennan was the referee.

The usual dancing followed the game and was enjoyed by a large crowd. Members of Company E of the local battery maintained order both in the armory and on the outside and were kept busy with youngsters enjoying Hallowe'en. No damage was reported to many automobiles parked at the armory.

The score:

Greenpoint.	FG.	FP.	TP.
Carey, rf	4	2	10
Norman, lf	1	2	4
Smith, c	2	2	6
Barlow, rg	1	1	3

The Expert's View.

A green trimmer was told to put a piece of imitation mahogany in the window and mark it "Sheraton."

He thought he would improve on his instructions. Knowing nothing about furniture, he marked it "Fine Mahogany—Sheridan."

An expert happening along viewed the exhibit and observed: "Another case of Sheridan twenty miles away."

Might Help.

"They say," stated the tourist, "that deerskin moccasins are fine for these mountain trails. Could you make me a pair?"

"I have no pattern," answered the village shoemaker doubtfully. "Can you furnish me with anything of the kind?"

"Well I can get you the 'Last of the Mohicans.'"

The Moment of Confidence.

"Did you feel perfectly at ease when you made your first speech in congress?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "I was all right until the comments began to come in. The first speech was the most comfortable one I ever made."

A Loafer's Paradise.

Probably the laziest people in the world are Svatnians, who live in the inaccessible mountain range between the Black and Caspian seas. They have made no advance toward civilization in 2,500 years. It is their invariable rule to observe holidays four times a week, with saints' days as extras.

Gustatory Immortality.

Tradition has it that Sally Lunn who has been immortalized in the cake that bears her name, was a young lady who in the early Seventeenth century sold cakes on the streets of Bath. But who was that Major Grey whose name is attached to a certain brand of chutney? And which of the celebrated Charlottes gave her name to the charlotte russe? Who were Tom and Jerry, and is it true that Tom Collins was a Boston bartender who moved to Montreal and there achieved fame by serving the concoction that bears his name?—New York Tribune.

"Tenrec" Is Odd Animal.

There are several living specimens in zoos, of the "tenrec," the hedgehog of Madagascar. It is said that stuffed specimens in museums give no adequate idea of these very curious creatures. Their resemblance to hedgehogs rests upon their possession of a spiny covering. The shape of their bodies resembles that of an inflated globe fish. They are insectivorous, and are declared to be restricted to the island of Madagascar. The specimens seen in this country are remarkable for their habit of yawning.

Strange Pisa Echo.

At Pisa there is an echo that takes no notice of two sung notes, but if three are uttered they are flung from stone to stone with ever-increasing strength, until after a few seconds it seems as if some mighty choir were singing.
